BY THE ALDERMEN

PRATT NOMINATED

Gov. Foss Names Lowell Lawyer for Superior Court Bench

ALDERMAN JOHN W. DALY
Whose Minority Report Was Adopted

ALDERMAN JOSEPH JODOIN

ALD. ALEXANDER E. ROUNTREE

THE MEMBERS OF COMMITTEE ON SEWERS

As a Result of the Sun Showing Up
Plan to Squander $35,000

Both branches of the city council met last night, the aldermen in regular and the council in special session. The Wiggsville sewer question was settled on the part of the aldermen, and properly, too. The aldermen voted for the plan which includes the lowering and enlarging of the Lawrence street sewer and in accordance with a minority report submitted by Alderman Daly. The committee on sewers, Aldermen Rountree, Jodoin and Daly, met previous to the meeting of the board of aldermen and Messrs. Rountree and Jodoin voted in favor of the plan asked for by the American Hide & Leather company and crossing the Concord river at a point on that company's premises. Both propositions have been fully explained in The Sun and the plan adopted by the aldermen is the one favored by City Engineer Kearney and sanctioned by the state board of health.

The aldermen proceeded to the election of a city physician and Dr. M. A. Tighe was elected. The special meeting of the council was called for the purpose of taking action on the $500 appropriation for the observance of Columbus day, and it was favored by both branches. The council did not vote on the sewer question and took no action on city physician.

Board of Aldermen

The board of aldermen did not meet until after 9 o'clock, though it was scheduled for 8 o'clock. There isn't any reason in the world why city council meetings should not be called the hands of the city physician that they should receive, because his time is limited. At any rate the election of a city physician should not rest with the city council. The city physician should be elected by the board of charities. The board pays him and yet the board has no control over him. The election of a city physician by the city council is one of the most absurd things that I know of. The board of charities pays the city physician and the board should elect him. There are a good many flaws in the system and this is one of them."

Waiting For Oil

The street department is still waiting for street oil that was ordered several weeks ago. Two streets, Washington and Riverside streets are closed because there is no oil to finish the job. Supt. Putnam says that his work has been seriously hampered by the wait for oil and that several of his men have been idle for the last two weeks on that account.

DEATHS

WORCESTER—Emery J. Worcester, aged 72 years, died yesterday afternoon at the wall General hospital. The deceased is an old and highly esteemed resident of Tyngsboro, and his many friends and relatives will doubtless hear of his sudden departure with no little sorrow.

JOHNSON—Joseph B. Johnson died yesterday morning at the home of Mr. Andrew M. Robinson, 44 Wilham avenue, Braintree, aged 84 years. He is survived by a wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, and three sisters.

HAYES—Ellen Hayes died yesterday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Patrick McMahon, 17 Richmond avenue, aged 63 years. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Patrick McMahon and Mrs. Michael Croft of this city. The body was removed to the rooms of Undertaker O'Connell.

ARVISAIS—Benjamin Arvitsais, an old and esteemed resident of St. Joseph's parish, in fact, one of the first men to arrive in the new parish when it was first founded by Rev. Fr. Curran, O. M. I., passed away suddenly at his home, 30 Salem street, about noon yesterday, aged 65 years. The deceased had been complaining for the past week of a slight indisposition, but nothing was thought of the matter until yesterday noon, when, as the family were having dinner, Mr. Arvitsais suddenly left the table and went to his bed, where, after a few moments, he died.

Heart disease is thought to be the cause of death.

He is survived by his wife and four daughters, Mrs. Urie Dalgault of 13 Common street, Mrs. Mary Belland of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Lena Bywater of Lowell and Mrs. Clara Ellsworth of Lowell; three sons, Henry of North Billerica, Felix and Arthur of Lowell.

War dance at Asso. tomorrow night.

U. S. AMBASSADOR RETURNS

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The United States ambassador to Brazil, Irving B. Dudley, with his family, returned home today on the steamer Verdi for a two months' vacation. Ambassador Dudley will visit Washington.

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—The nominations of three associate justices for the Massachusetts superior court were presented to the executive council by Gov. Foss today. The nominations follow:

Nathan D. Pratt, Lowell, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Richardson.

Frederick H. Chase, Boston, to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Judge DeCoursey to the supreme court.

Richard W. Irwin, Northampton, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge Sherman.

Under the law these nominations must lie over a week before confirmation by the council.

Among the other nominations presented by the governor to the council was Loti F. McNamara, Haverhill, member of the state board of conciliation and arbitration.

In appointing Nathan D. Pratt to the superior court bench, Governor Foss has made a wise selection. Mr. Pratt has been endorsed by members of the local bar and by business men of Lowell in general. On account of his genial manners and obliging disposition he is popular with all who know him, and his appointment will give general satisfaction not only to the people of Lowell but to all who know Mr. Pratt as a citizen and a lawyer.

The general feeling in regard to his selection for the bench is that Governor Foss could not have chosen a better or more capable man from this part of the state. The appointment will be hailed as a good one throughout the state.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Attorney General Wickersham today by filing a brief in the supreme court here began his fight before that tribunal to have the principal coal carrying, railroads and coal owning companies in the anthracite coal region adjudged to be in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. An entirely different attack was made on the corporations from that in Pennsylvania, where the government lost on nearly every point.

OUTING CALLED OFF

Weather Interfered With the Manchester--Lowell Affair

Just because the weather clerk was a bit out of sorts the city government outing scheduled for today at Manchester, N. H., was called off. All arrangements for the outing had been made but the rain interfered and rendered the outing unnecessary.

was finally agreed to hold the outing tomorrow if the weather permits and if the weather clerk's prognostications should carry and it should continue to rain, the outing will be held on the first fine day. The Manchester contingent has made all arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors and they are bound to have the outing pulled off, rain or shine.

Should the outing be held tomorrow it is feared that the Breckton contingent will prove so strong a counter attraction as to seriously interfere with the outing as several members of the city council and heads of departments, it is stated, have made arrangements to go to Breckton tomorrow.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH

Wants to Seize Land to Establish a Comfort Station

A representative of the Turner Creamery was before the board of health yesterday afternoon to make answer to a complaint charging the Turner Creamery with selling butter, milk and cream in whole and in part from the creamery, and to be disposed of later by the board of health. The representative, Mr. Moody, said that to his knowledge the butter, milk and cream were sold only to those who did not retail it, and he said it was never to him when he heard that many stores were selling Turner Creamery milk and cream from the creamery. He was asked to furnish a list of drug stores and other stores where he furnished milk and cream, and he said that the board would look after the stores and that the creamery would have to stop selling milk to storekeepers who were not living up to the rules and regulations of the board of health.

Mrs. Marshall appeared before the board to answer to complaints that her property numbered 11-17 Riverside street was in an unsanitary condition. She asked for an extension of time, in which to plan some changes, but the board voted to deny the extension of time asked for, and the matter which has already been served, still stands, and the property will have to be made more sanitary immediately.

A Tyngsboro milkman, named Bell, appeared before the board, in answer to complaints, alleging that he had broken the quarantine placed on his house, due to sickness in the family. The board further placed an embargo on his milk, saying that the only conditions under which he could let any of his milk enter Lowell, was to have nothing to do with the milk himself, and not let the milk touch anything that was connected with the house. This he promised to do, but when an agent went there Monday, he found Bell taking water to the barn from the house, to wash the cans with. He was given another chance and told to make heating arrangements in the barn, so that all the work can be done there. A little later it became known that Bell had taken his daughter, who is known to have tuberculosis, to the doctor's in a carriage, whereupon the board voted to cut off his milk from Lowell until the quarantine card has been removed from the door and the house fumigated.

On motion of Mr. Osgood, it was voted to obtain an opinion from the city solicitor, relative to the seizure of land in order to establish a comfort station.

U. S. ENGINEERS

SAY THE BATTLESHIP MAINE CAN BE FLOATED

HAVANA, Oct. 4.—An examination of the after section of the battleship Maine, comprising about one-third the full length of the ship, has convinced the engineers of the feasibility of building a bulkhead in it and floating it out of the cofferdam. The fitting of a bulkhead will be commenced as soon as the material for it is received from the north.

There is still a possibility that the engines of the battleship are in such condition that they can be restored to service and with temporary boilers permit of the wreck proceeding out of the harbor under its own steam. This course probably will not be adopted, however, on account of the expense that would be incurred.

The next two months probably will be devoted to a continuation of the work of dissecting by gas blasts the shattered portions of the hull, from which most bodies may be recovered.

A portion of one of the forward muzzles is now visible, but its condition does not warrant a conjecture regarding the character of the explosion which sank the Maine.

OUR THURSDAY HALF HOLIDAYS ARE OVER FOR THIS YEAR

MECK'S MATINEES

AS A LOWELL PATRON SEES THEM

"The world is so full of a number of things," the amusement world, that it is a relief to drop into a play house where one's mind is permitted to follow a certain line of thought, to its finish. I have just discovered this, and while the transition from light to dark, rays to gay, slap stick to gems from grand opera may be highly diverting, it is like slipping and an open fire on a dreary night to settle down in a stock house and respond to the development of the play presented.

Some weeks ago it was remarked that Lowell would have a surfeit of stock companies; we have been spared that and favored with only one—a good one.

"Drop into Hathaway's some afternoon and tell me what you think of the new company," said the head of the house (your journalist) at breakfast.

"But I don't like."

"Oh, forget it. It's because you don't like and are not matinee-crazed that I want your opinion; though you used to give up a whole day to Boston and stand in a mob line at the ticket office endeavoring to see these same players."

"But that was at—"

"Exactly! And if they were worth while there, why not here? Go up and see for yourself and tell me what you think. I want a bright little woman's opinion."

Most people succumb to the Head's factory; I still do.

So with a special supply of endurance and my mind focused on that pleasurable little at home, I dropped into Hathaway's.

My first impression was that I must be the only housekeeper in Lowell "putting up stuff" this fall, for the matinee about which I had evolved into words blurred words of praise and admiration of members of the stock company, instead of the usual gossip and household details. "Gosh," I muttered, and maintained a hurriedly patience until the curtain rose when I actually did "forget it."

My attention was held by a voice strangely familiar, then quickly recognized that of Charles Stevens, who had been personally known and admired "on and off" in former days. Mr. Stevens is recognized as sterling in the theatrical world; I recalled his work in Lowell a few years ago and his reason for resigning and returning to a stock house in Boston—a reason the unknown public would scarce credit an actor; that he might live at home with his mother. That lovely and lovable mother would come from Boston to remain over the Sabbath with her son during those weeks, and the love of home was so strong within him, that he left his most satisfactory engagement here to return to Boston and her.

A second voice from the stage brought me back to the present and I looked curiously; was it man or boy? A glance at the program said, "The Crymble," and I knew it was the lowly but Charles Crymble. Since I have wondered at the tendency of the human mind to refuse recognition to home talent, Charles Crymble evinces talent and intelligent study; he pleased me immensely and I was glad for him and for Lowell.

We have to refer to the days when Rose Stahl played on that very stage a dozen years hence we may be willing to see with appreciation, Crymble's talent. When he brings to mind another Lowell boy and the matinee remark of the one sitting behind me: "Oh, Willie Walsh is going to sing; he ought to be a good singer; he used to sing in the choir with me." He was "Willie Walsh" to me years ago, but his progress and development of talent ability on the dramatic stage as well as in concert hall, incline me to address him as Mister Walsh.

"Were there any ladies in the company?" asked the Head, looking over his shoulder.

"Not many, but all good." They were good to look upon, good to hear, and evidently in love with their work. Miss Horton is of most attractive personality and she and Mr. Fellowes were literally "heads" in every sense.

Miss Hunt seems a real character woman to me, rather than an actress who has outgrown ingenuous roles and "plays up" character because nothing else offers. The ingenuities are a bright, breezy real girl; the minor members of the company are above the average in ability. Our own Dan McCarbide deserves credit for giving a bulky good interpretation of truly and unsympathetic roles; he played up to the character with never an appealing look to the audience for sympathy.

"Aren't you forgetting someone?" interrupts the Head again.

"You mean Donald Meek?"

"Yes."

"Yes, one doesn't forget Donald Meek; one cannot. I can't call him the whole show, his support is so strong, but he is the keystone and a particularly fine one."

Then I reminded the Head that I knew Meek years ago and knew him as an actor in almost every meaning of the word; his fingers are nimble and expensive in use of brush and pencil; his work drawings are good and his chalk work equally so; and, like Meek, writes creditable verse; sometimes gay, sometimes cynical, often philosophical, but always poetry; never degraded.

"And how he is singing," comments the Head.

"Now! Why, he sang years ago! Boston demanded it and he had to; he sang there in musical comedy many weeks."

The afternoon doesn't seem to have passed quickly; my remarks the Head.

And I frankly admit that I was not bored! That I was entertained and rested instead and came away with head clear and spirits bright, with appreciation of our own stock company and gratitude that we have one good one.

Lowell Ellinger.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Although an attempt was made by two daring highwomen who are supposed to be representatives of a certain company desiring of securing the production of "David's Crymble" it failed in Providence last week. The production is being shown in its entirety for one week at the Opera House with daily matinees.

The films arrived here in charge of an operator, under a heavy bond, together with effect-men under the personal charge of Thomas Giffy who has been engaged by the David Bellson of Motion Pictures.

Mr. Arthur Polshy, manager is exercising more care than ever over the small amount of rate containing the five thousand feet of photograph.

The advance side has been most gratifying to the management, and big business is assured.

"OVER NIGHT"

The best advertisement for "Over Night" is the fact that it leaves no bad taste in the mouths of an audience, for it is absolutely free from coarseness and suggestiveness as it is also devoid of horse-draw. Everything about the comedy is clean, wholesome, and thoroughly funny. The local draw for the production is out of the lot at the Opera House.

Created for laughing purposes only, "Over Night" certainly fulfills its mission and furnishes unlimited fun for the audiences. Any one who has a gleam in him will surely get rid of it by seeing the piece, for it has a laugh in every line and a laugh worth while. Moreover its story is very clever and it has an unimpeachable comic situation. The plot is very simple and all hinges on a mixup of two bridal couples, the husband of one by accident, staying ashore with the wife of the other, while the steamer with the other pair starts on its trip up the Hudson.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

Ever on the look-out to please his patrons Manager Stevens yesterday shifted an unpropitious number on the program and substituted the Banjo girls, a pair of comely Southern girls who give a pretty and dainty singing act including real Dixiey dialect songs, some of which are of their own composition and unpublished. These girls are real singers and not "coon shouters" and they bring out the catchy harmonies of the Dixie South in most acceptable manner. The novel of the bit continues to the strikingly beautiful "Poems in Marble" of Paul Seidman's Sons, Venus, Miss Anna Claron, the most beautifully formed woman now before the public. Eleven exquisite groups are given exploiting some of the most noted works of art. Miss Claron posing alone in three, "Diana," "The Voice of Spring," and "The Awakening of Nature." Little Lord Robert the midget comedian looked over Lowell yesterday in an automobile and returned with a whole lot of original jokes on the town. He is the funniest performer of his inches on the vaudeville stage today. Van Hoven, the Mad Magician, is all over the theatre and keeps his audience on the broad grin. If he didn't perform a trick at all he'd still be a hit for his line of talk is as funny as it is unceasing. The Donatien sisters are graceful dancers and they exemplify numerous styles of the terpsichorean art with equal grace and agility. "Rained in" is a most entertaining comedy of the west and is capably presented. Arthur Van and his musical girls are a most acceptable attraction while the motion pictures are up to the minute. A reception will be held by Lord Robert after the matinee performance this afternoon.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The many friends of Harry Hopkins, the Lowell boy who is appearing as a member of our stock company at the Merrimack Square theatre this week, will be glad to be pleased to learn that he is making a pronounced success of his work. For one with such limited professional experience, the Lowell boy has done wonderfully well and gives encouraging promise for the future. Mr. Weston is especially pleased with his work. The piece is a most entertaining one-act play and shares with the best put on by Mr. Weston and his associate players since their coming to Lowell several weeks ago.

Rose Pitonof and her diving and swimming act is the big feature for the week and daily large crowds have been highly entertained by her work. She performs in a large tank containing several thousand gallons of water, and by the use of a series of mirrors the interior of the tank may be plainly seen from all parts of the theatre. What makes her act the more enjoyable is the apparent pleasure which Rose takes in her dips into the water. She giggles and laughs and splashes about in regular girlish manner. The other acts are excellent.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

"A Gentleman from Mississippi" is drawing large and most enthusiastic audiences to the Hathaway theatre this week and an excellent presentation of this sterling American drama is being given under the personal stage direction of Mr. Donald Meek. In order to secure the original manuscript of "A Gentleman from Mississippi" an unusually large royalty was paid but it is Mr. Meek's policy to have the best attractions available regardless of the cost and hence the elaborate production seldom attempted in stock which is now delighting the patrons of the theatre. Next week a prime local favorite, "Jack Chagron" will be seen at the Hathaway in the leading role in "Texas."

ST. ANTHONY'S CHURCH

RT. REV. BIS HOP DE SILVA

An Addition is to be Made to Structure in Central Street

Contrary to the report that St. Anthony's church in Central street had been sold to St. Peter's parish, the parishioners of that parish which is composed solely of Portuguese, are contemplating the idea of finishing the church.

A rumor was circulated in town to the effect that St. Anthony's church and rectory had been sold to St. Peter's parish for the sum of $60,000, and that the church building was to be converted into a parochial school, while the rectory was to serve as a home for the nuns who were to be in charge of the school.

His Grace Bishop de Silva, who is acting pastor of the parish since the departure of Fr. Rosa, who went to the Azores on account of failing health, when approached by a representative of The Sun this morning, on that question, said there was no foundation to the rumor, and instead of selling their church, the parishioners were making efforts to complete the building. "The parish is in good financial standing," continued the bishop, "and I cannot see how this false statement got about. The old wooden church in Gorham street is for sale and has been on the market for some time, and that is probably what got people saying that the church in Central street had been sold. However, as I said, the buildings are not sold and are not to be sold."

The parishioners are now organizing an entertainment to be held in the church on Thanksgiving night, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the building fund.

ENTERS SEMINARY

Former Lowell Teacher to Enter Priesthood

The many Lowell friends of Prof. Joseph A. Malone, for the past several years a teacher at the McGill (Catholic) preparatory school at Mobile, Ala., but formerly of this city, will be interested to learn that he has entered the seminary of Mount St. Mary's college at Emmittsburg, Md., his old Alma Mater, to study for the priesthood. Professor Malone is a native of Brooklyn, N. Y., but after receiving his A. B. at Mount St. Mary's college came to Lowell and became identified with the Allen Bros., then well known grocers in this city and relatives. After a short time he received an appointment in the assessors' office at city hall where he was employed until he went south on the invitation of Rt. Rev. Edward J. Allen, bishop of Mobile, to become a teacher in the McGill preparatory school. As a teacher he met with great success and became prominent in the Catholic educational circles of the south. Recently he visited Lowell and while here announced his intention of entering the seminary. He is a cousin of Dr. William P. and Mr. Thomas H. Lawler of this city and a brother of Rev. Aloysius S. Malone of Arlington, Mass.

STRIKE IS SETTLED SEASON IS OPENED

The Strikers Are to be Reinstated R. L. O'Brien Before the Congregational Club

DUBLIN, Oct. 4.—The strike declared on the Irish railroads by the Amalgamated Society of Railroad Servants Sept. 21 was finally settled today. An earlier agreement was held up when the companies refused to reinstate certain strikers in places filled by other men. The strikers abandoned their original grievance, which was their objection to handling lumber shipped by a firm which was having trouble with its employees.

By the final arrangement the companies agreed to reinstate 90 per cent. of the strikers at once and the remaining 10 per cent. where vacancies occur. They will not dismiss the new men who were taken on during the strike.

REV. A. FREDERIC DANNELS, Pres. Lowell Congregational Club.

opening meeting of the Lowell Congregational club of the season of 1911-12, held in the Highland church last evening.

The attendance was unusually large, and Editor O'Brien's talk was thoroughly enjoyed. The exercises opened with a social hour in the ladies' parlor, after which an excellent dinner was served. The church quartet sang a number of selections that were most acceptable. Rev. A. P. Dannels, president of the club, presided, and Rev. E. G. Alger, chairman of the home work committee, reported on the progress of the churches of the denominations along special lines.

Denver, when a man from Maryland objected to the proposition for the celebration of Lincoln's birthday unless it was coupled with a resolution for the celebration of the birthday of Robert E. Lee, he was sidetracked by an order to proceed to the roll call of states. Jumping on a table, the Maryland man loudly demanded his right to be heard, while in another part of the house delegates from other states were responding to their names in a roll call. Finally the secretary shouted, leaning forward toward the man on the table: "The chairman tells me to inform you that your time has expired."

The speaker then incidentally spoke on direct nominations and the present tendency to put the national convention out of existence, except as a ratification meeting. "Of course," he said, "if it is a good thing to nominate a governor in a direct primary, no logical reason can be found for not nominating a president in the same way."

Speaking of our method of choosing a vice president, he said: "Here is an office of very great importance, when we consider that the man may have to assume the duties of the presidency, yet men have been chosen in the past in the most utterly haphazard way. The convention usually opens Tuesday or Wednesday, and about Friday night it has nominated its presidential candidate, and the men are anxious to get home. The convention comes together with a greatly diminished attendance, and quite a snap judgment is exercised in the selection of a vice president. At the last convention the republicans nominated James S. Sherman, and the democrats nominated John W. Kern of Indiana. Both of those men were very much in the down and out class in their respective states and districts. But the most peculiar nomination was that of Henry G. Davis for the vice presidency on the ticket with Alton B. Parker. He was nominated with the idea that, being a very rich man, he would contribute largely to the fund. Now, we are all creatures of habit, and Mr. Davis, in working his way up from a freight brakeman to a multimillionaire, had no contracted habit of submitting himself from his habit. He was a man of pretty good self-control on that score. At a dinner of the Grignon club, in Washington, just after the nomination, one of the features was a gypsy fortune teller, who told the fortunes of men made up to represent the various candidates. When Henry G. Davis passed, the fortune teller scrutinized the lines of his hand very carefully, and then said: 'Mr. Davis, your fortune is just exactly the same as it was before your nomination.'"

Senator Vest of Missouri, the speaker, said, was a man of great vigor, incisiveness and force. At a time when he was in anticipation of death, a friend called to see him, and by way of encouragement, called his attention to Mr. Merrill of Vermont, a much older man, and still in vigorous health, the suggestion being that Mr. Vest would recover and outlive Mr. Merrill. "Well," said Senator Vest, "I don't mention Merrill to me. They will have to shoot him on the morning of the resurrection."

The speaker referred also to another peculiar phase of American life shown in the retirement of the ex-presidents. "Here is a man who has held an office the power and scope of which puts all the limited prerogatives of Europe to shame. Yet that man suddenly drops to the position of a private citizen, oftentimes into complete obscurity. The only exception that I know is Theodore Roosevelt, who of course is not an obscure man, and never will be."

"Mr. Roosevelt," continued the speaker, "was the most striking occupant of the White House at close range. A man of almost magical mental qualities; a man who seemed to know really more than it was normal and natural and proper that a man should know, in the lines of biology, literature and science. Distinguished men in science and letters were entertained by him."

In closing, Mr. O'Brien told the ladies present that the country is indebted to the influence of Mrs. Taft, for the presidency of Mr. Taft. "Mr. Taft, in all sincerity and truth, never wanted to be president of the United States. His plans were always worked out on a different basis. He was a lawyer and a judge, and he did look forward to a place on the supreme bench. During Mr. Roosevelt's administration there came a very important vacancy on the bench, and when Mr. Taft's name was mentioned the matter was brought out that he might be president, if he did not take this Mr. Roosevelt thought that Mr. Taft's chances for the presidency were larger than those of any other man in the country. But finally all agreed that it was the duty of Mr. Taft to accept the position on the bench, and the case was considered settled; but Mr. Taft asked the president not to give out the fact to the newspapers until he had had a day or two to talk it over with Mrs. Taft. The president said that it was all very well to talk it over with his wife, but that it was the man himself who must be the judge of his own destiny. Mr. Root talked with equal force on the same idea, and Mr. Taft wholly agreed but still persisted in wanting to talk it over with Mrs. Taft. In order to make things a little picturesque, "And you know," concluded the speaker, "he did not take that office. Mrs. Taft stuck courageously to the idea of the presidency for her husband."

At the close of the address Mr. A. K. Whitcomb offered a resolution expressing the appreciation of the club which was responded to by a rising vote. The meeting was then closed with the singing of "America."

RED SOX TOOK BOTH

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The Highlanders dropped a double-header to the Red Sox yesterday, Boston winning easily in each game. Hall was effective in the first, allowing but four hits and striking out nine men. In the second Wood was almost invincible. Not a man got on base until the sixth, when Williams walked. Daniels made the only clean hit off Wood in the same inning. Wood struck out 13 men, getting Daniels and Dolan three times. Every New Yorker but Gardner struck out in this game. The second game was called in the eighth inning, on account of darkness. The scores:

DIAMOND NOTES

John McGraw is credited with making changes in the personnel of the Giants in midseason that enabled the team to become a factor in the fight for the pennant. Without a word of warning he got rid of Al Bridwell and Mike Donlin, who were traded to Boston, and put Arthur Devlin on the bench. Placing Herzog on third base and Fletcher in short field, he increased the speed in the infield and also strengthened the team at the bat and in base stealing. In making these changes McGraw showed no sentiment. Bridwell and Devlin, old friends and associates of the Giants' manager, were shelled because they had slowed up. Donlin once a popular idol, was allowed to go because there was no room for him in the outfield. Other managers might have hesitated before dismissing old favorites with hardly a day's notice, but McGraw saw a chance to put the Giants in the race and he jumped at it. Furthermore the trade of the New Yorks is receiving praise for his loyalty to Fred Merkle and Rube Marquard. When these men were necessarily discarded McGraw did not turn them down. He told them to go to keep on trying to do their best. Because he has no possessions enough to carry out his own ideas, McGraw has convinced the baseball public that fearless management counts in the long run.

"The tale the Giants will beat the Athletics because Catcher Thomas can not stop their base stealing," says Jimmy Callahan of the White Sox. "In order to get a chance to steal the Giants must get on the bases first. In my opinion they will find this task extremely difficult when Bender, Combs and Plunk face them. The series with the Cubs proves to my satisfaction that the Giants are not unusually strong with the bat and that a catcher like Archer can stop their piffing. Thomas is Mack's best catcher and the way he threw out the Cubs in the fourth series last fall proved that he couldn't be tricked with ease. Thomas has been throwing to bases this year better than ever and unless I am wrong he'll stop the Giants as easily as he stopped the Cubs. The Athletics are the best hitters in either major league. Depend upon it that they will find a way to solve Mathewson and Marquard. If Meyers can break up their hit and run game I'll be very much surprised."

Bugs Raymond has been placed on the New York ineligible list. He can't play ball at all. The Athletics are quoted as saying that he would welcome a release from the engagement. George Stovall, the present manager of the Cleveland Indians, has received so much praise from Cleveland fans that Davis believes he may experience trouble in this. Stovall at the last moment may be retained, in which case Davis will be allowed to go elsewhere. If such proves to be the case it wouldn't be surprising if Davis took hold of the Highlanders for 1912. It is believed that President Parrell would sign Davis in a jiffy if the latter could secure his release from the Cleveland contract.

THE BROCKTON FAIR NELSON IS OUTCLASSED

35,000 People Attended Opening The Former Champion Was Defeated By Young Saylor

BROCKTON, Oct. 4.—All records for attendance at the opening day of a Brockton fair were broken yesterday when 35,000 people crowded through the gates. A good part of the 35,000 bought and tied on themselves ribbons inscribed with the words "Put out for a good time" and what with the hair-raising stunts of Aviators, Lancers, Boaters and Harry Atwood, several spills on the big racing track, and bigger, better and baser attractions of every kind than ever before, all of the 35,000 got the grand time that the ribbons called for.

It was Children's day. All the Brockton schools were closed, and every child in Brockton went out to the fair grounds and bought a whistle and blew himself in one way or another. They were admitted free.

Harry N. Atwood, who holds the world's record for long distance flight, brought his aeroplane, over the road from Boston yesterday morning, towing it behind his automobile. While passing through Randolph, the aeroplane broke loose. In leaping from the automobile to capture it, Frank Lawson, Atwood's mechanic, sprained his knee. This, and one or two small injuries to the aeroplane, kept Atwood from getting into the air until 5 o'clock.

An even larger crowd is expected today, and extra special trains have been arranged so that all the visitors will be able to reach and leave Brockton easily.

Keen competition marked the several classes in the horse show. The entry list was the largest ever recorded and represented states in all parts of the east. Blue ribbon honors were well distributed. Mrs. J. S. Wicks of New York, Mrs. James B. Wicks of New York, the Hon. Clifford Sifton of Ottawa and Mrs. Hugh Bancroft of Channahon each showing two winners. Harry L. Pierce of Leominster took the greatest number of ribbons, getting one first and six seconds. Others who won prizes included John Morris, Keosauqua, Va.; Edward McLean, Washington; William J. Kearney, Montreal; J. B. Taylor of Watertown, N. Y.; and Mrs. Orme of Newport, besides several local stables.

The judges were: W. H. Meyer,

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1910 was Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred P. Pottle, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 2, 1911. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

The republicans are trying to make it appear that Governor Foss is in some way responsible for the defeat of reciprocity and for the high cost of living. Is Foss responsible for the action of the Canadian parliament or the extortions of such pampered aggregations of freebooters as the sugar trust, the beef trust and the scores of other trusts which are enabled by an oppressive tariff to rob the people? The excessive tariff is the mother of trusts and the republican party fixed the tariff.

POINTS IN THE NEW CHARTER

Some opponents of the new charter try to delude the people by saying it is a newspaper charter, just as if the newspapers have any selfish interest in its adoption. The newspaper that would not favor the adoption of the proposed charter would be unworthy of public confidence because it would be untrue to the city's interests and to the public welfare.

The Sun has advocated a new charter for the past ten years. We advocated a modification of the old charter until the legislature refused to let it be submitted; but we did not dream at that time that the people of Lowell would ever be offered a charter so radical in the powers it confers upon the voters.

What is remarkable in regard to the situation at the present time is, that the most conservative men in the city seeing the drift of affairs at city hall are in favor of adopting the new charter. They foresee the outcome of continuing the present method of doing business. The system is wrong, and unless the men in office adopt extraordinary measures to promote the city's interests the results will be disappointing. The same men under the new charter might do excellent work. But with the present charter in force we need never expect satisfactory results. When there is not a deadlock between the two branches of the city council there is usually a deadlock between the mayor and the city council. Thus the business of the city is obstructed and delayed. Then the contention between the two political parties is another source of delay and often results in the holdup of important public business pending a satisfactory understanding between the politicians.

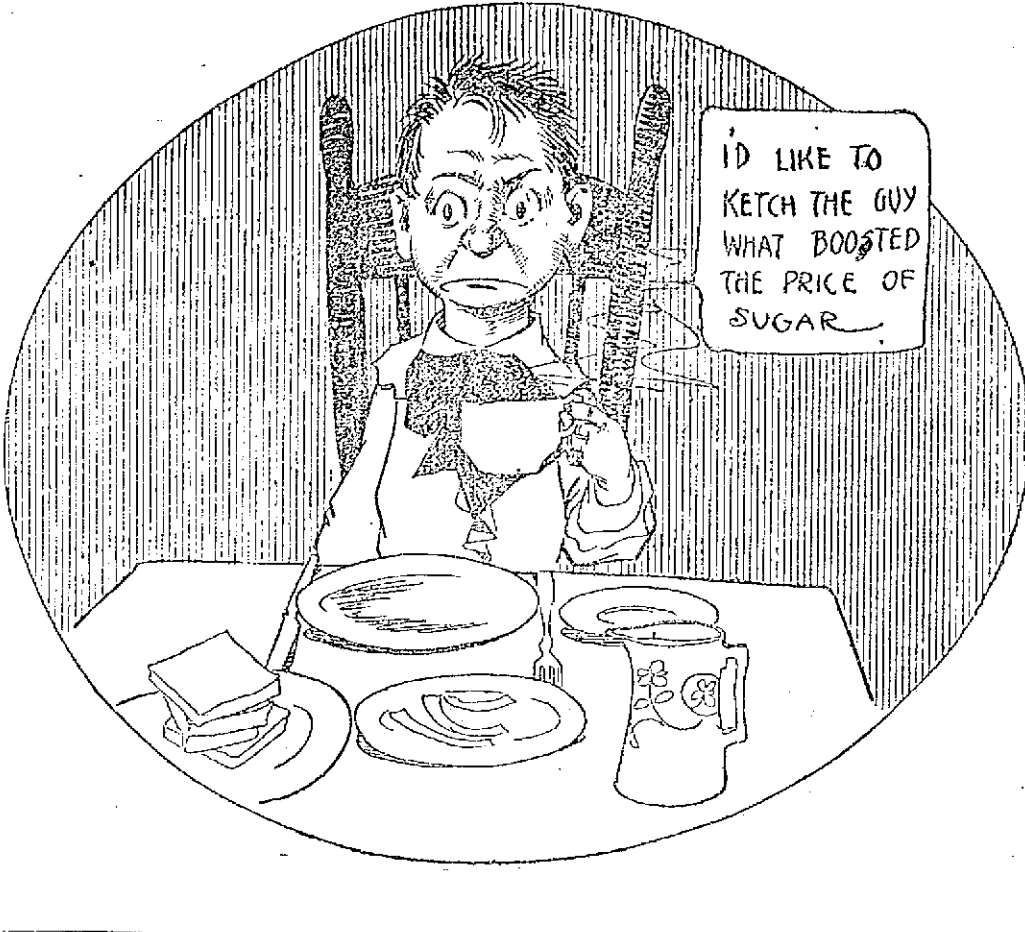

With the common council abolished and the party designations dropped, the deadlocks and other causes of delay would disappear. It would seem that anybody who wishes to have our city government improved and our city to prosper should favor both these changes. The time was when party government in municipal affairs was insisted upon very strenuously, but such changes have come about in other cities that those who favored party government have been convinced that better results can be obtained when the business of the city is conducted in a manner similar to that of the large corporations. Under the new system the board of aldermen would be reduced in number; but the members would be elected at large as usual and the municipal board of five members would include the mayor who would have a vote in the council and no veto power. The members being paid, their services would be required to give their entire time to the city's business. Each would have charge of one or more departments and would be held strictly responsible for results in those departments. In this manner each member would be desirous of making the best showing possible in the departments under his charge and thus every department in the city would be properly looked after. We should then see the city's business transacted promptly and in a business-like manner. If the people wanted public baths, a public hall or a contagious hospital, the municipal board would take the most practical steps to supply the public need in each particular case. The board would make the best showing possible with the money placed at its disposal as each department would have to keep within its appropriation. The commission would be required to publish monthly statements of all receipts and expenditures and to keep the department accounts open to public inspection. At the end of each year the municipal board would be required to cause a full and complete examination of the books and accounts by competent experts, the results to be published for the information of the taxpayers. In this manner the people would have an opportunity to judge of how the finances of each department are applied. Under such a charter, if there seems to be anything in the nature of extravagance the voters can readily point it out and bring the member of the board who is responsible therefor to account.

So it is all along the line from the highest office to the lowest. Every official must transfer his business in the open and be ready at any time to give an account of his stewardship to the people. If any member of the municipal board fails to perform his duty, is negligent or incompetent, the people can remove him from office by the recall. If the municipal board fails to enact any law demanded by the people the voters themselves can force the adoption of said law. If a bad measure be enacted the people can step it by the referendum. If a franchise be granted in the public streets it cannot take effect until the people have had time to look into the matter, and then if they see anything suspicious in the grant they can hold it up for submission to the voters at a special or regular election. Thus the supreme power is placed in the hands of the people, and they can use it at their discretion whenever the interests of the city seem to call for radical measures in order to compel the officials to do their full duty.

Thus it appears that the people would have full control at all times over their elected officials. They will be able to force necessary legislation or to block unpopular legislation. A charter of this kind grants the people so much additional power that we cannot conceive of any good reason for opposing it. It is a thoroughly democratic measure in every sense. Its object is to give the citizens more for their money by systematic management of the city's affairs, by entering responsibility and giving the people absolute control over all elected officials.

Under the new charter all the wards would be equally represented in the municipal board. The interests of all would be attended to better than ever before and it would be found that five men all the time on the job would be far better than seven times the number holding municipal wrangle-fests once or twice a month while the city's business has to run itself in the meantime. The officials under the new charter would serve the people whereas those under the present charter often defy the people.

SEEN AND HEARD

A New York despatch has it that a Lowell newspaper man dined too long in the dining-room of a Grecian liner. Saturday, and came within an ace of being carried to Athens. On account of his round properties the Greeks took him for an American general going over to lead the Greeks against the Mohammedans and when he rushed from the dining room toward the gang plank that was being taken in they thought it was a case of cold feet.

Lord Kitchener at a dinner in New York praised temperance. "We are all temperate nowadays," said the great soldier. "To get drunk is an upward of thing among gentlemen. If a gentleman ever gets drunk he has you may be sure, a remarkable excuse to offer."

"A major, after a military ball at St. Louis, came home, I regret to say, drunk. He shocked wife said to him: 'Reginald, aren't you ashamed?' To return from the ball in such a condition."

"Don't blame me, my dear," said the major. "You must remember that the character I assumed was that of a sponge."

Sergeant Atkins had served for many years in foreign climes, and now he was traveling back to the village where he was born.

In the carriage of the local train that carried him over the last stage of his journey he related some of the strange adventures which had befallen him. And the workmen present listened in open-mouthed wonder.

"In that battle," said the soldier, "we fought from 8 in the morning till 8 at night, and never stopped a moment."

"Sounds all right," said the only doubting one. "But there's just one thing I don't understand."

"Indeed?" said the soldier, "I don't understand what you don't understand?"

"Well, what I want to know is this," answered the doubting one, "how did you manage about the dinner hour, eh?"

The charge is made by a writer in a western paper that "When a woman hags, anything else to do she changes her dress and her complexion."

Such is the sort of abuse to which the fairer portion of creation has been subjected since the birth of the newspaper and the magazine. Through these vehicles of communication it is that many a pusillanimous creature dignified by the name of "man" endeavors in his filthy, contemptible way to belch forth the venomous feelings of hatred which his neighbors against the women of this nation. Such an individual, there is not the least doubt, is but one of those who is kept in the straight and narrow path with a nickel in his pocket only through the angelic reticence and painstaking watchfulness of

CHINESE RAILWAYS

Great Progress in Their Construction

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—It is evident in many ways that the determination of the Chinese government to follow a definite policy and secure funds from abroad for the development of the great trunk lines is to lead to immediate action on many schemes and early activity in actual construction work all over the empire.

In the north the construction of the Kirin-Changchun line has been declared somewhat but a line over the mountains involved will be run temporarily and it is expected that this will be put into Kirin this year. The early work is about 70 per cent. complete. On this line the construction work is being accelerated somewhat by a train of two thirty-four ton locomotives and ten thirty-ton cars and a brake van, all constructed at the Tientsin shops of the Chinese Imperial railway administration. Work on this line, too, has been delayed by the lack of labor due to the plague. The final survey on the Kirin-Changchun line has been completed and preparations for actual construction work are said to be complete.

The construction of the parallel lines of the Manchurian railway company from Tientsin has commenced. The shipment of rails and supplies from Japan being forced forward rapidly. The bridging of the many streams along the southern portion of the Peking-Hankow line is rapidly being completed and the smaller structure being already in use.

The energetic work on the Szechwan line from Chungking in the direction of Yunnan is being continued and materials are now being transported over a section of about 52 1/2 miles, while work on the several tunnels is well advanced.

The Canton-Hankow line north from Canton has been completed and is ready for opening to mile 67.3 miles and the present terminus of the line is nearly complete to mile 79, only a small bill over which the natives of the district have prevented action being in the way of almost immediate opening to the latter point, that the opening to mile 67 may be delayed until the line can be opened to mile 85 is so far advanced that if the objection of the natives can be removed the line to that point can be in operation in a few weeks.

Construction on the Sunning railway has been delayed somewhat by unusual conditions, but the line will soon be opened to Kungmoon on the Pearl river.

An interesting phase of the present railway development in China is the effect which it is even now having on the trade and trade prospects of various ports. Arrangements are now being made by the Nankin-Viceroy to open to foreign trade the port at Peking and the Yantai end of the Peking-Pootung railway. The people of that port are preparing to construct a bond across the river for a mile so that the largest ships coming into Chinese ports may be accommodated. Kinkiang is preparing for similar development with the completion of its railway into the interior. In the south Yunnan is rapidly changing from merely the political capital of a province to its possibilities to a free trade center. Its opening to the trade of the world can be only a matter of a short time. On the other hand Kungmoon, on the Sunning railway, was for a time the terminus of the road and enjoyed a boom in property and trade. The terminus of the railway at present, however, is near Koumou and is now overshadowed by its more fortunate rival.

At the last meeting of the board of selection of Billerica, the latter decided not to allow out-of-town parties the use of the town hall in the future, except in the event of the townspeople being invited.

The establishment of a life house station was also discussed at some length and the secretary of the board was instructed to ask for a figure on a certain plot of land at Jones' corner which has been under consideration for the proposed new station, for which an appropriation of $500 was voted at a special town meeting held in July, the said money to be spent under the direction of the board of selection.

Herbert E. Jacobs was appointed a public weigher and Edwin Scott, the local dealer of weights and measures, was appointed a special police officer on the recommendation of state commissioner of weights and measures.

TRADE ACTIVITY

BETWEEN UNITED STATES AND OTHER AMERICAN COUNTRIES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The October Sailing Dates Bulletin just issued by the Bureau of Statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor, gives again further evidence of the activity of trade between the United States and the American countries at the south. The sailing dates announced from the various ports of the United States to the various American countries and ports at the south, including in this term, Mexico, Central and South America, and the West Indian Islands, number over 400 for the single month of October. While this total includes in a few instances more than one departure for a single vessel by reason of the fact that a few of the vessels touch at more than one port of the United States, the grand total of departures for ports and countries to the south of us approximates 400 for the single month, while the October departures for the various ports and countries of the world run into the thousands.

This large number of vessel departures for the American countries lying south of the United States, running at the rate of approximately 400 a month, is incidental to the remarkably rapid growth in recent years in the trade of the United States with that part of the world. Imports from American countries and islands lying south of the United States have grown from 212 million dollars a decade ago, to 350 million in 1911, and the exports from the United States to those countries and islands have grown in the same time from 130 million dollars in 1901 to 290 million in 1911.

This rapid growth in trade with that section of the world is due in part at least to the growing demand on the part of the United States for tropical and sub-tropical products, and the equally growing demand in the countries mentioned for manufactures. The value of the tropical and sub-tropical products brought into the United States has grown from 355 million dollars in 1900 to 636 million in 1910, and the figures for the fiscal year 1911 show an even larger total, since 29 million dollars in imports in 1911 were over 500 million dollars, compared with 1910, coconut raw cotton, and numerous other articles also showing more or less increase. On the other hand the exports of manufactures from the United States for the fiscal year 1911 were over 500 million dollars, against 465 million a decade ago, and the value of all exports to South America alone 100 million dollars against 45 million a decade ago.

The Sailing Dates Bulletin above referred to shows departures from each port of the United States to the principal ports and countries of the world, by port, line, by line, and country, by country, several weeks in advance of the actual sailing dates, and can be obtained free of charge on application to the Bureau of Statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so gives health and strength to the whole body.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

ANOTHER ARREST

In Connection With the Death of Stern

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—A second arrest was made today in connection with the death of Adolf Stern, who was shot to death last July when three men robbed the jewelry store where he was employed of diamonds worth $50,000. The prisoner is William Demarest, 22 years old.

Demarest, the police say, is the man who indirectly brought about the arrest of Martin Garvey, who was captured last night and identified by two witnesses as the man who did the shooting. Miss Beatrice Wolfe told the police that she met Demarest at a picnic last summer and that he told her he knew who shot Stern. Stern's murder is receiving unusual attention from the Jewelers' Protective association.

resulted in the death, distress and privation which has overspread this village. Stronger than ever this morning was the general opinion that the governor's visit indicated that the state officials are looking over the situation with a view of ascertaining their authority in conducting an investigation as to the liability and responsibility for the condition of the dam. It is positively asserted by General Fred W. Flint, vice-president of the state water supply commission, that at no time was the state made cognizant of the construction, repair or condition of the dam. State Senator William of counsel for the Bayles Pulp & Paper Co. was among those in close touch with Governor Tener during his visit here.

Aside from the governor's sojourn, the situation early today assumed the routine of changing away wreckage, the search for more bodies and removal efforts to get men, not only as laborers but as cooks, whose services are sorely needed. The replenishment of food supplies, too, is taxing the energies of the commissary as well as the railroads. The 17 nurses from the state dispensary have been worked almost to the limit of their strength. A strict guard is still kept on the incoming roads and none is allowed to pass without authority. Incoming trains carry only necessary baggage and freight and passenger coaches are

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—Football coaches here believe that Marshall, Penn.'s right end, will develop into one of the season's sensations. Last year he played a brilliant end game on the ant and significant gathering ever held in North America.

Of the 500 delegates expected over 350 have arrived and an additional hundred, it is believed, will leave in an appearance when Rev. Henry Haigh, president of the British Wesleyan conference, preaches the inaugural sermon at 10 o'clock.

Of the delegates to the conference about half will be from the American Methodist churches, including Canada, while the other 200 are from across the ocean.

The conference may prepare a pastoral address to be read from every Methodist pulpit in the world, in all languages.

This is the first time the conference has been held on this side of the Atlantic and probably will be so for years to come. Some of the subjects to be discussed and spoken on will be:

"The church in the home," "The church and the family," "The church and the child," "The church and social service," "The home use of the agency," and "The church and modern thought."

Each subject will be introduced by an address of twenty minutes, followed by general discussion, opened by a selected speaker who is given ten minutes; all others being limited to five minutes.

Among the prominent delegates in attendance is Bishop Wadsworth of Cincinnati.

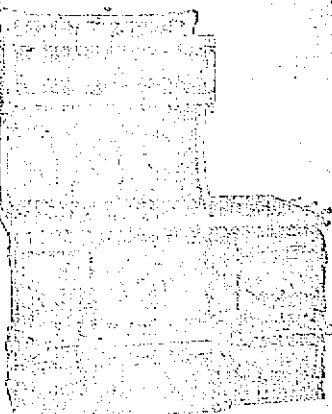

Two prominent Irish delegates, Rev. G. R. Wedgwood of Belfast and Rev. S. T. Boyd of Dublin, the former is connected with the Irish Christian Advocate, the official organ of the Methodist church in Ireland.

The negro delegates, and present from the American Methodist Episcopal church.

Bishop Parke of Chicago, of the M. E. church has the distinction of being the first bishop of the United States to that position in 1895. For the first time in the history of Methodism women will take part at the conference. Mrs. Lucy Ryder Meyer of Chicago, who is well known as the leader of the Deaconess movement in the United States, will speak. Mrs. George Robinson of Detroit is another delegate.

The conference will not deal with the woman suffrage question, except as the movement comes in contact with the work of the church.

LOWELL SLIGHTED

Her Name Barely Mentioned at the Industrial Exposition in Boston

Why is it that the American Mason Safety Tread Company and the Bigelow Carpet Company have exhibits at the Industrial Exposition in Boston and yet in neither case is the name of Lowell mentioned?

Why is it that other cities not of half the industrial importance of Lowell—Fitchburg and Salem for example—make a big showing at the fair and Lowell has no exhibit worth mention? Who is responsible?

A Sun representative at the exposition yesterday looked in vain for any worthy exhibit from Lowell and found only a little one from the Textile school and a few others of little importance mentioning Lowell—nothing to represent the great, big, widely famed industries of Lowell.

WE ARE LIVING IN RAPID STYLE

Specialists Here Introducing New Tonic Gives Reasons for Modern Plague.

"The sooner the city man reaches a state of mind that keeps constantly before him as a living, active, impelling force the fact that good health means real happiness the better off he will be," said the specialists who are sent here to introduce the remarkable new tonic, "Tona Vita."

"A great majority of those who have called at the drug store to have an explanation of the nature of our preparation," continued one of these specialists, "have frankly said that they were suffering from nervousness and were all run-down, with no energy or ambition. These symptoms indicate only one thing, and that is that they are suffering with the same trouble that affects more than half of the population."

"We are now living in a fast age. A high state of civilization makes us ambitious and in our mad rush to achieve success, we find ourselves carelessly exceeding nature's limitations. We do not stop for repairs until our conditions are serious and alarming and we can't go any further along. Finally, in the grasp of debility, we lose our ambition and in its place assume a state of languor, decline and depression."

"Nervous debility is a miserable and most dreaded condition of the body. The organs are all disordered and nine times out of ten the system needs a complete rejuvenation. Nerve food is required, new blood is needed, and buoyant spirits are necessary to make us feel that we are once more in a healthy, original condition. "We have a preparation that will accomplish this very thing, 'Tona Vita' will relieve those suffering from such complaints as nervousness, stomach trouble and bowel trouble, poor digestion, headache, pains in the back, constipation, poor circulation, cold feet, depression, and despondency. The preparation is pleasant to take, its effect is immediate, and it brings a lasting source of benefit and relief. "Those of the public, whether man or woman, who are debilitated can see us between the hours of 9 a. m. and 8 p. m. at Hall & Lyons drug store. A free trial will be given to the first five hundred callers, provided their symptoms show them to be sufferers from nervous debility."

terday by the Boston chamber of commerce, the object being to interest the press outside of Boston in the proposed Pacific Exposition and also in the industrial exhibition now open in the Mechanics building in Huntington avenue. In the forenoon the party was taken on a trip around the waterfront and down the harbor in the steamer Monitor. This afforded an opportunity to see the various docks, the navy yards and to judge of the extent of the improvements planned to make Boston a port of call for the country as a commercial and shipping center.

At the conclusion of the trip luncheon was served at the Hotel Oxford and the party was afterwards escorted across the street to the city hall.

Here the industrial exhibits are well worth seeing. Many of the cities of the state show fine exhibits but unfortunately there is nothing elaborate from Lowell. The Lowell Textile school has a small exhibit, and the American Mason Safety Tread company has a fine exhibit, but it does not mention Lowell. The same is true of the Bigelow Carpet company. The Lowell Lumber and Ashland company has an exhibit and the Lowell school for industrial foremen makes a good showing.

Exhibits representing the cities of Fitchburg, Salem, Northampton, and others attract wide attention and their prominence leads the citizens of Lowell to inquire why the name of our city is not more conspicuous at the fair.

In the evening the party attended a banquet at Paul Revere hall, over Merchants building and the speeches that followed were of the highest quality. Boston as the great commercial port of New England and the east.

Vice President John Chandler Cobb of the chamber presided at the banquet and Russell R. Whitman of the Boston American acted as toastmaster. The speakers included Hugh Bancroft of the Boston News Bureau, Frederick Roy Martin of the Providence Journal and Roscoe W. Pillsbury of the Manchester Union. The keynote of the speeches was the great future of New England and how best to give impetus to the present boom. Practically all the speakers made mention of the railroad situation, especially the coming of the Grand Trunk.

Vice Pres. Cobb gave a cordial welcome to the newspaper men and said the meeting was a step in the direction the chamber is working, to bring New England together, Boston and New England, he said, are so absolutely interdependent that one practically means the other. The chamber of commerce stands for the development of the industries of Boston and New England and he asked the help of the newspapers in its work.

Editor Martin of the Providence Journal delivered a witty speech, but took occasion to tell of the fight Rhode Island had over the entrance of the Grand Trunk railway into Providence. In spite of the strong opposition of the New Haven system Providence expects to see the cars of the Grand Trunk within a year, he said. "Anything that helps Rhode Island helps Boston," he added, "and because we have got the Grand Trunk is no reason why we wouldn't be glad to have you get it also."

"Boston is going to have the Grand Trunk," Mr. Whitman arose to remark. Roscoe W. Pillsbury, of the Manchester Union, told of the resources of New Hampshire, saying that her vast water power, although undeveloped, already forms the basis of currying raw material into the finished product of a value of more than $15,000,000 a year.

TRAIN WAS HELD UP

Masked Robbers Rifled the Mail and Baggage Cars

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Oct. 4.—Missouri, Kansas & Texas passenger train from Kansas City to Oklahoma City was held up by three masked men early today near Okem, ten miles south of here. The robbers rifled the mail and baggage cars and escaped as soon as they had finished their work. Two trunks full of valuable jewelry samples belonging to a salesman for an eastern firm, were put on a train here, but it has not been learned whether or not they were stolen. A special train carrying a sheriff's posse and bloodhounds has left here for the scene of the robbery.

$500,000 IN TREASURY

City of Lawrence Will be Able to Meet Its Notes

LAWRENCE, Oct. 4.—The city treasury at the close of business yesterday contained estimated funds of between $400,000 and $500,000 as a result of payment of taxes and no longer is there any doubt of the municipality meeting $500,000 in notes due January, the present month. Payment of taxes has been fully paid, it not better than normal during the past few days. The Police Mills paid a final bill of $25,000 yesterday. Its payment of Monday having been $24,000. The Everett Mills corporation has also paid its tax in full and has waived its right to the interest which was authorized by vote of the city council on its July payment to help out the city's finances. It is expected that the receipts will be made by the end of the month and the city will be able to meet its obligations. The city bonds are now being sold at a premium of 10 to 15 cents over par. A third $100,000 matures Oct. 27.

In November $100,000 more becomes due and the remaining $200,000 in January and February of next year. It is believed that the state tax receipts will aid largely in meeting the November payment. It is thought that the city may be able to borrow again in view of its payment of outstanding bonds to aid it in its running expenses for the balance of the year. At present there are four months' bills for merchandise unpaid.

BOY MAY DIE

PROBABLY FATALLY INJURED WHEN COW RAN AWAY

WORCESTER, Oct. 4.—Philip Bjurman, aged 12, son of Eric G. Bjurman of 2 West Chester street, was probably fatally injured yesterday when he was swept from his feet by a frightened cow he was leading to pasture and swung against an apple tree with such force that his skull was fractured. He is now in the City hospital in the dangerous list. The surgeon here said little hope for his recovery.

The boy, according to his usual custom was leading the cow to a stake in the corner of the barn when the animal became frightened. The lad was caught by a limb of the leading rope and couldn't let go and in her wild run the cow swung him off his feet into the trunk of the tree, which he struck head first.

BARN IS DESTROYED

Fire in Lawrence Caused Loss of $5000

LAWRENCE, Oct. 4.—Fire destroyed the stable, wagon shed and collection of stores of George L. Weiss, rear of 26 Woodland court, last evening, causing an estimated damage of $5000. Three horses, an automobile and other possessions were burned.

Mr. Weiss was burned on the face and hands while trying to rescue the horses. George Haigh, a member of Combination Company 6, had his wrist cut by glass. The loss is partly covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is in doubt.

BANK WINS OUT

OWNERS OF STOCK MUST REPAY LOANS OF $100,000

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Judge Hardy in the superior court yesterday entered a decree that the Federal trust company was entitled to hold its security for its loans to Robert L. Davis, the broker, the 200 shares of stock in the American News company belonging to William H. Jackson and the 200 shares of preferred stock in the Connecticut River power company belonging to Hamilton & Chase.

Davis had obtained the stock from Jackson and from Hamilton and had pledged it for loans made by the trust company to him. The certificates had been endorsed in blank. Jackson may redeem both stocks upon paying the $25,000 the amount of its loans to Davis with interest, expenses and costs, and upon paying $3712 to Baker, Ayling & Co., its brokers, what Davis owed them, and $1075 to William Wheeler. Davis had assigned his interest in the stock subject to the claim of the trust company to Baker, Ayling & Co.

Jackson is to get the residue after satisfying these claims in the event of the securities being sold. The river power stock is not to be sold by the trust company and its proceeds applied to paying its claim. In the event that Jackson redeems the stocks, Hamilton & Chase can set the river power stock only upon paying him $7500.

BARKING DOGS

ARE BARRED BY CITY FATHERS OF QUINCY

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—A few days ago the city fathers of Quincy ruled that a rooster crowing in the middle of the night was a nuisance, and as a result a certain high class gamecock who disturbed the night slumbers of quiet-loving people of Quincy was killed.

Now the city fathers have turned upon barking dogs. As a result the new ordinance went into effect yesterday. It says that no one can keep a noisy dog. If he does it will cost him $10 every time said canine fails to obey the rules made by the city council.

That same dog, under the law, has no right to bite. If he does, every bite will cost its owner $10. A snuffler will now be the principal wearing apparel of a dog in Quincy that he may refrain from indulging in long soliloquies on moonlight nights, or any other night. The ordinance, which says it is wrong for a dog to bark, read as follows: "No person shall keep a dog which is barking, biting or howling, disturbs the quiet of any other person. The penalty for a violation of this ordinance after being once warned by the chief of police, will be a fine of not more than $10."

No provisions are made for the disposal of the dog in case he is a constant violator of these rules.

BROWN ELEVEN

LINED UP AGAINST THE RHODE ISLAND COLLEGE TEAM

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 4.—Brown expected to defeat the Rhode Island football strength today when it lined up against the Rhode Island College team. Having won its two games played with the University of Maine and Massachusetts Agricultural college, the Rhode Island team came up from Kingston with confidence in its ability to hold the Brownians down to a small score following the overwhelming score of 56 to 0 which the "Hillmen" piled up against New Hampshire in the opening game here last Saturday.

SEALING SCHOONER SEIZED VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 4.—Russia and Japan were expected to "converse" when the steamer South Manchuria left Yokohama Sept. 19, regarding the seizure of Japanese sealing schooners of the Komandorski Island.

WILEY IS IN CONTROL

Solicitor McCabe Has Resigned From the Food Board

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Solicitor McCabe yesterday asked Secretary Wilson to relieve him from further duty with the board of food and drug inspection and the request was granted.

McCabe, the member of the board whose vote with McCabe's, placed Dr. Wiley in a permanent minority, took a vacation until the return of President Taft to Washington from his western journey. R. E. Doolittle, now chief of the food and drug inspection division, and Dr. Wiley, who was designated as a member of the board in place of Solicitor McCabe.

Dr. Doolittle comes from Michigan and received his scientific education at the Michigan Agricultural college at Lansing. He has been in charge of the New York laboratory for several years and has acquired himself in many difficult cases with distinct success and to the satisfaction of importers and merchants. Eighty to 90 per cent of the food and drug cases arising from imports originate in New York and have thus come directly under the work of Dr. Doolittle in the New York laboratory. He has the full confidence of Dr. Wiley and of his associates in the bureau of chemistry.

Dr. H. W. Wiley returned to his desk after 10 days' absence in attendance on the international congress at Kansas City and other gatherings. In the absence Secretary Wilson and Solicitor McCabe had returned to Washington, but for several days the report has been current that the secretary would turn over to Dr. Wiley without let or hindrance full control of the bureau of chemistry.

The pure food and drug board is the agency which passes upon many important cases arising under the enforcement of the pure food law. Dr. Wiley, on the one hand, and Solicitor McCabe and Dr. Doolittle on the other, were the members of the board. Dr. Wiley declared that he was usually outvoted, and made a number of sensational statements in the investigation of the controversy.

The reasons for Solicitor McCabe's resignation were not announced. Secretary Wilson said Mr. McCabe's duties as solicitor remained unchanged, and under the new provision of the law he will continue to exercise his important influence over the enforcement of the pure food law.

"There will be no permanent change in the department's method of enforcing the pure food law until President Taft has had an opportunity to take up the matter in Washington," said Secretary Wilson. "The appointment of Dr. Doolittle will simply continue the board's operation, as at present, up to the time when President Taft returns."

HOME VANISHED

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 4.—Walking, as he supposed, to his home, only to find that the home had vanished, was the unusual experience that fell to the lot of 10-year-old Joseph H. and here yesterday afternoon.

According to the lad's story, he had been playing with a family by the name of Hazzard at 100 North street, and had worked for this board.

He attended the Chestnut street school as usual yesterday afternoon, leaving the house shortly after one o'clock. The Hazzard family was in the car, and when he arrived at the family home, Young Hazzard drifted into the police station last evening and told his story. He was taken in charge by Donald North, secretary of the Boys' club.

This week is Quarter Week at the Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank.

STRUCK BY AN AUTO

Dorchester Boy Was Fatally Injured

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Francis McDermott, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William McDermott of 112 Granite avenue, Dorchester, was fatally injured late yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile owned by Henry C. Knight of Riverway court, Cambridge, and driven by Frederick Dittman of 42 Howins street, Dorchester.

Young McDermott ran from behind Woodsum's express wagon directly in front of the automobile, which was running down Granite street at a moderate speed. The boy was thrown to the ground, concussion of the brain resulting. He was lifted into the machine, in which were Mrs. Knight, her daughter Irene, and Mrs. Henry Rice, and was hurried to the office of Dr. Joseph Kelly, 141 Ashmont street. For some time he was removed to the City hospital. He died at 10:45 p. m.

SHAW STOCKING CO.

Meeting of the Stockholders Was Adjourned Until Friday

A well attended meeting of the stockholders of the Shaw Stocking company was held this morning at the office of the company in Shaw street. There were about 45 stockholders present and the meeting was called to order at 10:30 o'clock by President Frank J. Dutcher, who in a few words explained the purpose of the meeting which was called to take action on the recommendation of the directors of the Shaw company that the capital of the company be reduced from $500,000 to $180,000, and that afterwards the capital be increased to $170,000 by the issue of $270,000 new stock at par.

After considerable discussion on the question, the meeting was adjourned till Friday morning at 10 o'clock, at which time final action will be taken by the stockholders on this important question.

The stockholders were notified of this morning's meeting by a letter from the directors, who frankly admitted that under present conditions it is impossible to borrow the money necessary to proceed with the successful operation of the plant, and they express the belief that they have arrived at the right solution, as set forth to place the Shaw business on a satisfactory basis.

On the other hand there is an element in the organization opposed to the proposition submitted by the directors and this opposition is expressed in a letter written by Egerly & Crocker, stock brokers of Boston, to the directors under date of October 3. The letter is as follows:

To the Board of Directors, Shaw Stocking Company, Lowell, Mass. Gentlemen—Referring to the proposed scaling of the stock of the Shaw Stocking company and the issue of new stock for cash, we think that the stockholders, upon examining carefully into the directors' circular of Sept. 25, 1911, would see what has been done.

We find that the assets of the company consist of:

Cash and accounts receivable $ 30,000
Merchandise ..... 287,000

Plant at assessed value of ..... $228,500

On the other side there are:

Debt of ..... $173,000
And capital stock of ..... $500,000
Or a profit and loss deficit of ..... $167,000

Comparing this with the published report of May 29, 1909, when there was a profit and loss surplus of $112,000, it can be seen that there has been a loss of $269,000 in two years. For a company whose capital is only $500,000, this loss seems to us, would lead most stockholders to ask questions. There is due the stockholder, we think, a little more light on the subject of how these losses were made than the statement of the directors that the "expense of manufacturing has been very great owing to the absence of raw materials and the general depression existing in all textile industries and the volume of business has correspondingly decreased partly owing to the difference in the method of merchandising our goods, etc."

Taking the figures given in the company's circular, the book value of the stock is about $50. The stockholder is asked to scale his stock to $30 a share. We think that the stockholder may well ask if this reduction is not too drastic. Would it not be just as practical to scale his stock to $70 or $80 a share and get the new money subscribed? It is possible that there are stockholders who will not be in a position to take up their new stock. They are then unable to sell their right to subscribe a portion of the property amounting to the difference between $50 and $30 1-3, or about $17 a share for each share they formerly owned, is then divided among the several most generous stockholders of the company whose confidence in this method of financing, the circular states, leads them to agree to underwriting the total amount of the new issue of stock at par.

Yours truly,
Egerly & Crocker.
However, the question will be decided upon at Friday morning's meeting.

RESTORES NATURAL COLOR TO GRAY
HAIR

Not a Stain or Dye

Gray hair is not a stain or dye, it is a natural condition of the hair. It is caused by the loss of the natural color of the hair. The hair is made up of cells, and each cell contains a nucleus. The nucleus is the center of the cell, and it is the source of the color. When the nucleus is healthy, the hair is colored. When the nucleus is diseased, the hair is gray. The hair is made up of cells, and each cell contains a nucleus. The nucleus is the center of the cell, and it is the source of the color. When the nucleus is healthy, the hair is colored. When the nucleus is diseased, the hair is gray.

Apply night and morning, rubbing briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush. This preparation is perfectly harmless and is recommended not only for the purpose named, but as a truly wonderful hair grower. Before publication this prescription was presented to Riker-Johnson Drug Co., this city, and they state that they have filled it many times for their patients, who report most astonishing results from its use.

CHARTER DRAFTS

Sent Out to Voters by Committee

The office of Secretary Murphy of the board of trade was a busy place this morning, for Secretary Murphy and a corps of clerks were hidden behind huge piles of pamphlets which they were most assiduously placing in envelopes and stamping. The pamphlets were copies of the new city charter which are to be mailed to every voter on the Lowell check list. The first installment went out this morning and they will be shot into the mail boxes without delay until all are out. The names are being taken from the check lists but should anyone be omitted there are plenty of copies at the board of trade rooms which may be obtained by calling for them or by telephoning the address of the one desiring a copy.

The executive committee of the board of trade met this afternoon for the transaction of routine business.

FIRE IN A CHURCH

The Police Are Making an Investigation

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 4.—Basing their investigations upon the fact that a strong anti-Polish feeling exists in the neighborhood, Cambridge police inspectors and representatives from the state fire marshal's office today began a probe of a small fire which was discovered in the Polish Catholic church in North square, East Cambridge, in the early morning hours. The fire damage was very slight but it was discovered after the flames had been extinguished that the church had been broken into, that the fire appeared to have been of incendiary origin and that some of the vestments of the priests had been stolen.

"FRONTIER DAY"

Was Repeated to Please
President Taft

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 4.—President Taft saw a bit of Old West today. Cheyenne did not merely watch him drive through the streets and listen to presidential eloquence, but "frontier day" with its exciting bronchos, wild horse races and the feats which abound in Wild West shows was repeated for the president's benefit.

The reception committee made the show as nearly as possible like one held a few weeks ago and 65 performers appeared before Mr. Taft.

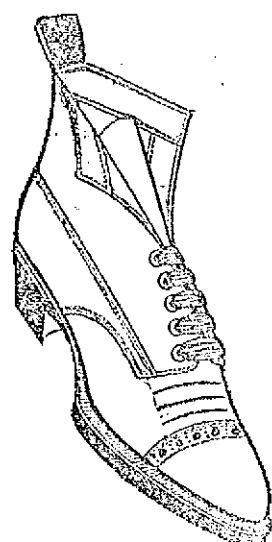

In addition to the show, the president's program included an automobile ride through the city, a review of troops and an address in an opera house. His train was scheduled to make two more stops in Wyoming today and should reach Salt Lake City tomorrow.

LORD ROBERT

PAID A VISIT TO THE SUN OF FIVE YESTERDAY

Lord Robert, the diminutive comedian, who is appearing at Keith's theatre, does not devote his entire time to theatricals, for during his leisure moments he visits various places of interest in every city that he is playing in. The little fellow is an ingenious person and has an eye for mechanical apparatus. Lord Robert, accompanied by Wm. H. Stevers, the manager of Keith's theatre in this city, called at The Sun office yesterday afternoon and after making a tour of inspection of the building enjoyed an automobile ride with the automobile editor of The Sun.

Lord Robert was very favorably impressed with the mechanical department of The Sun and although he has visited many newspaper offices, he stated that he found none that was so complete in equipment as that of The Sun.

A PAGE OF FUN

HER EXHIBIT.

Going to exhibit at the horse show this year? Yes, I've entered a couple of gowns.

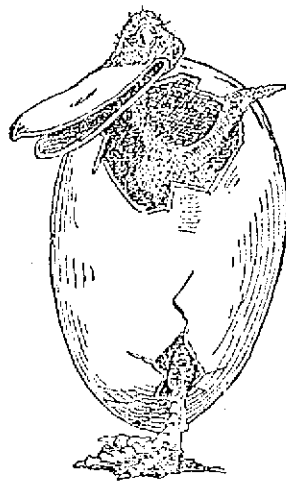

TOO SHARP.

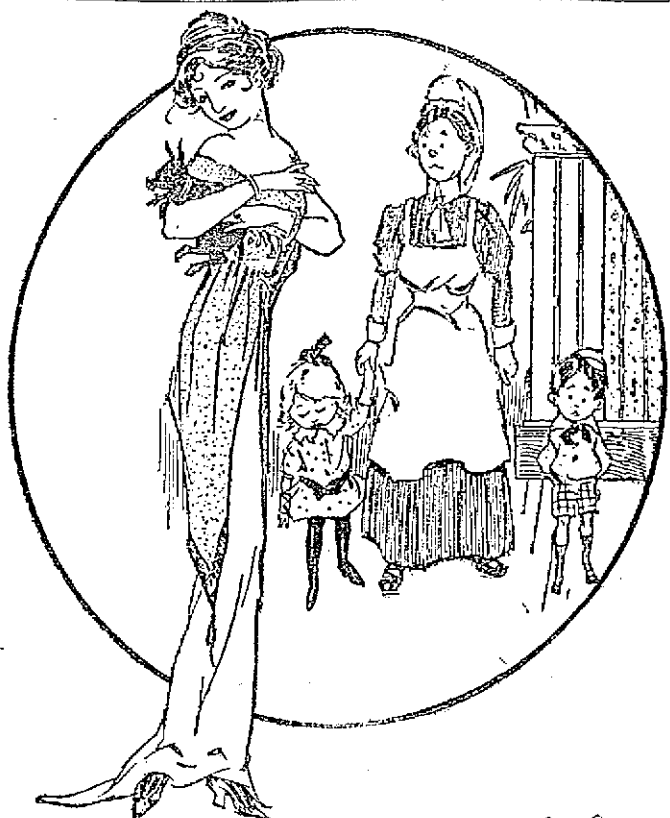

The leaves are beginning to turn, my child. Why don't you put some of that stuff on them that you put on your hair.

It Follows.

Do you know what is being whispered around about Senator Blank this morning?" asked Jones as he stopped Smith. "No, Blank is all right. They can't have anything on him." "Can't, eh? You just wait." "Wait for what?" "They say he's gobbled up five thousand acres of Government land." "You don't mean it!" "And he may be impeached." "Dear, dear me!" "And there's the man you thought was all right!" "Yes, I thought he was all right, at least up to a month ago. Then I saw him in a ten-cent moving picture show and began to have my doubts. Of course, that did it."

Making an Egg Stand on End.

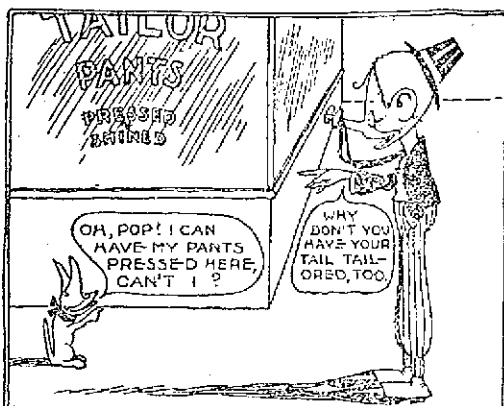

AIRING THE DOG.

The Nurse—Are you going to take the children out in the automobile today, ma'am? Mrs. De Swell—Oh, no, not today. I think Fido needs some air today.

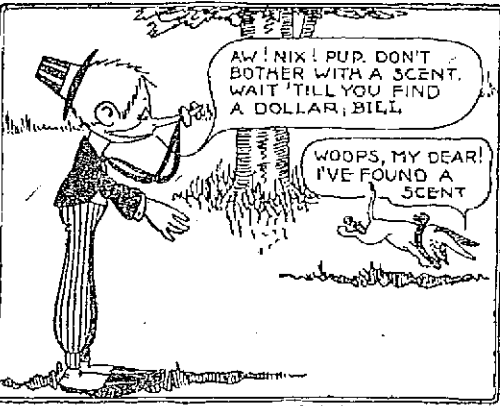

WHY THOSE LOUD PANTS, PUP? THEY SHOULD ALWAYS MATCH YOUR COAT. DID YOU EVER TRY A PAIR OF LAVENDER SUSPENSERS, PUP? THEY'RE GREAT!

AW! GAW! THE ARTIST HAD TO DRAW YOUR PANTS ON FOR YOU.

OH, POP! I CAN HAVE MY PANTS PRESSED HERE, CAN'T I?

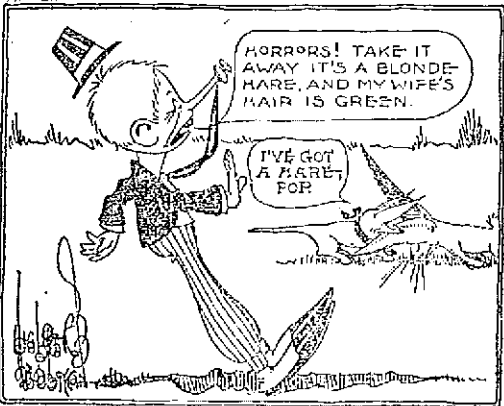

WHY DON'T YOU HAVE YOUR TAIL TAIL-OREO, TOO?

I HAVE A LITTLE DOG, NAMED "BILL." A CLEVER MUTT—HE'S NEVER STILL. I TOOK HIM OUT ONE REAL HOT DAY. HE PANTED NEARLY ALL THE WAY.

AW! NIX! PUP, DON'T BOTHER WITH A SCENT. WAIT 'TILL YOU FIND A DOLLAR, BILL.

WOOPS, MY DEAR! I'VE FOUND A SCENT.

HORRORS! TAKE IT AWAY! IT'S A BLONDE-HAIRE, AND MY WIFE'S HAIR IS GREEN.

I'VE GOT A SECRET FOR YOU.

WHILE WALKING THRO' THE FIELDS THAT DAY, BILL SAID "I'VE FOUND A SCENT." "A SCENT THAT IS SAVED IS AS GOOD AS EARNED," SAID I, AS HE FLEW AWAY.

SOON BILL BROUGHT BACK A PRETTY HARE. "DON'T BRING THAT HOME," SAID I. "CAUSE WIFE WOULD SUE FOR A DIVORCE—IF A BLONDE HAIR SHE SHOULD SPY."

PLAIN EVIDENCE.

"Binks is a pushing sort of fellow, isn't he?" "I should judge so by his performances with the baby carriage and the lawn mower."

Towed into Port.

I HAVE always wanted a chance to prove myself a hero," said the drummer for the shoe house. "and I surely thought it had come to me one day last August at a Long Island summer resort. I was fishing from the end of a long wharf when a young and handsome girl fell overboard." "And you leaped after her?" was asked. "I ought to have done so." "Most surely. What did you do?" "Reached down my fish pole until she could seize the end of it, and then towed her about 200 feet to land." "But she thanked you just the same?" "I—I don't think she did. You see, I had to tow her through reeds and mud." "But she said something?" "Y-e-s. When she crawled out of the mud she turned on me to observe that I was no hero. It sorter knocked me flat." "Well, you weren't a great big hero, but—" "And she said something else." "Oh—" "She said that instead of being a hero I was a tow-boat!"

STICKLERS.

I think a politician should not be the creator of the people, but the people's servant. Oh, not servant. They stick with us too long for that.

The End

He entered the lobby of the hotel with a sad look on his face, and was at once asked if he was in trouble. "It's more of a sorrow," he replied with a shake of the head. "Somebody sick?" "Worse than that." "Wife or children dead?" "No, not that. Gentlemen, five years ago I captured a small frog in a pond and made a pet of him. Rather strange pet, but we got to love each other. He came to know his name—Nero. He knew me from all others. He grew from a little fellow to an old sacker. Yes, I got to love that frog." "And he's been stolen?" "No, not stolen." "Got back to the pond, then?" "No, not that. Last night—" "Well, what about last night?" "That's it, you know—that's the sorrow of it. Last night that frog—he—" "He what?" "He croaked!"

BURNED UP.

The fly screens have been put away. The ice cream freezer, too. And the electric fan is still. It has no work to do.

And soon, with scuttle in my hand I'll be in the cellar peer— And, probably, shall find my coal Was all burned up last year.

MYSTIFYING.

"I don't understand this game of golf." "What's hard about it?" "Why do they hit the ball?" "That's the game." "So it seems. But why can't they just as well carry it along? They are going that way anyhow, and it would save them all the trouble of looking for it."

SAME RESULT.

I heard her husband was going to Reno to get rid of her. He did intend to, but he changed his mind and decided to buy her an aeroplane.

New Football Rules.

SHOULD the ball be kicked into the grand stand, and a fan pocket it and walk off, the game must be decided a draw. Should a young lady start to cross the field to see her sister just at the moment of a rush, all the players must stop dead still and look their prettiest. There must be no intention of hitting a rival player with the fist. He must have his eyes blacked or his nose broken by accident. In piling on to a player who is down with the ball under him remember to work your knees into his kidneys and spine. This will only make an invalid of him, instead of being the victim of a murder. Should the ball be kicked over the fence into Smith's yard, and should Smith's bulldog object to its recovery, the players will rest until Smith comes home. If a collision between two players sends them both to grass, the first one to recover can chew the other's ear. The right tackle must hereafter keep his eyes on the game, instead of peering about to see if his best girl is present. At least two ambulances must be stationed at the gate. If no one is hurt in the game they can be used to carry the umpire off. No contracts for tombstones to be made in advance. Those having sons or brothers in the game are asked to restrain their tears. Friends and relatives of the deceased are asked not to crowd forward and interrupt the game. The press agent will see about all obituaries, and should be supplied with photographs.

LUCKY FOR THE GUIDE.

Winks—Dobbs didn't enjoy his hunting trip up in Maine a little bit. Dinks—What was the trouble? Winks—Why, after he started into the woods he found out that his guide's life was insured in the very company of which Dobbs is president, and he didn't care to shoot at a thing after that for fear it might be the guide.

ANOTHER YARN.

And you were once the tattooed man in the circus? Yes, mum. And once you were caught in a rainstorm and all your colors ran together? Poor man! Were you out of a job long? No, indeed, mum. Dat very night I went around to do melodrama and got a job as a "deep-dyed villain."

A WONDER.

The Hunter—"Wot? Did I ever kill a hippopotamus? Say kid, once I shot into a flock of hippopotamuses and brought down nineteen!"

FOUND A SNAKE

IN THE TONNEAU OF SUPT. PUTNAM'S CAR

Supt. of Streets Putnam does not claim to be a snake charmer, but when he drove his car into the City Hall garage this morning in order to have a tire iron attached, the men who were at work on the car found a four-foot, dark brown snake in the tonneau of the car.

The reptile was very active and when disturbed put up a fight, but it was quickly despatched with a cold chisel. Mr. Putnam is in a quandary as to how the snake got into the car, and he is thanking his lucky stars that the reptile did not have a chance to get any nearer to him than it did this morning.

GUILTY OF ASSAULT
Man Was Ordered to Pay a Fine of $10

The greater portion of this morning's session of the police court was devoted to the hearing of Simon Rosenfelt, charged with assault and battery on Samuel Schwartz. William A. Hogan appeared for the government and the defense was represented by Bennett Silverblatt, and at the conclusion of the case the defendant was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $10.

Schwartz testified that he is employed by Nathan Greenbaum and that the latter keeps his horse, or rather dog, in the stable owned by the defendant, which is located in Railroad street. He claimed that on the 26th of September he was feeding the horse, when the defendant assaulted him. While he admitted that the usual custom was to feed the horse on the ground floor, the witness stated that the horse in question is a "green" animal and he was afraid to enter the stall, so he poured the oats down through a chute from the floor above.

He said that while he was preparing to feed the animal Rosenfelt accused him of stealing oats and after threatening him struck him on the neck and then grabbed him by the neck and threatened to call the police.

Nathan Greenbaum was the next witness called. He stated that he is a fruit dealer and testified that inasmuch as he was short of oats on the day in question he ordered a small quantity and presented a receipt from a local grain dealer showing that the purchase had been made.

Greenbaum proved to be a rather talkative witness and every now and then wanted to explain what transpired, but his counsel prevented him from doing so. Witness said: "Let me talk, let me talk," but Mr. Silverblatt objected and the court informed the witness that he should answer the questions which he was asked, and when he ignored the court the judge heard Rosenfelt kick the complainant and also that he had "heard an argument of feet." Witness said that he had heard that Rosenfelt had claimed that some person had been stealing oats from him.

The government rested its case at this point. The first witness for the defense was the defendant, Rosenfelt, who testified that he had a stable in the rear of 52 Railroad street and for six stalls for horses. He complained that he had lost oats and said he saw the complainant taking oats from a receptacle. He said that he saw Schwartz enter the room in question, remove a half-peck measure of oats and subsequently saw the complainant lock the door. He testified that upon finding the man he grabbed him and said he was going to telephone for the police but later decided not to do so.

The court after considering the evidence in the case found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $10.

Drunken Offenders

Hugh E. Molloy was charged with being drunk and after being found guilty was ordered to pay a fine of $5. There were two first offenders, who were fined $2 each, and several simple drunks were released.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE OF TWO 2 1/2-STORY BUILDINGS OF MARY CROSS, 42 AND 44 SUMMER STREET, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 7, AT 3 P. M.

By virtue of a license issued by the Probate Court for Middlesex County to me as the administrator of the estate of Mary A. Cross, late of Lowell, in said county, deceased, I shall sell at public auction all the land with the buildings thereon and upon the premises numbered 42 and 44 Summer street, and in the rear thereof, in said Lowell, on Saturday, the 7th day of October, A. D. 1911, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The property consists of two 2 1/2-story buildings, containing 148 square feet of land more or less, and connected with water, sewer and gas. The front building has a store with three rooms and an upstairs tenement of seven rooms. The building in the rear has three tenements, two of four rooms each and one of three rooms.

This property is situated between Gorham and South streets on the southerly side of Summer street. This is a very desirable location for a home or for investment. The premises will and must be sold to the highest bidder without limit or reserve in order to settle the estate.

PRATT NOMINATED

Gov. Foss Names Lowell Lawyer for Superior Court Bench

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—The nominations of three associate justices for the Massachusetts superior court were presented to the executive council by Gov. Foss today. The nominations follow:

Nathan D. Pratt, Lowell, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Richardson.

Frederick H. Chase, Boston, to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Judge DeCourcy to the supreme court.

Richard W. Irwin, Northampton, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge Sherman.

Under the law these nominations must lie over a week before confirmation by the council.

Among the other nominations presented by the governor to the council was Lott F. McNamara, Haverhill, member of the state board of conciliation and arbitration.

THE APPOINTMENT A GOOD ONE

In appointing Nathan D. Pratt to the superior court bench, Governor Foss has made a wise selection. Mr. Pratt has been endorsed by members of the local bar and by business men of Lowell in general. On account of his genial manners and obliging disposition he is popular with all who know him, and his appointment will give general satisfaction not only to the people of Lowell but to all who know Mr. Pratt as a citizen and a lawyer.

The general feeling in regard to his selection for the bench is that Governor Foss could not have chosen a better or more capable man from this part of the state. The appointment will be hailed as a good one throughout the state.

Sketch of His Career

Nathan D. Pratt was born in Haverhill, Mass., and is 38 years of age. He received his early education in the Haverhill public schools and upon graduation from the Reading Academy of Haverhill entered the law office of Pratt & Quinn in Lowell where he studied for two terms. He then took a year's course in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology after which he went west for several years during which time he took up the study of law. He is a member of the board of aldermen in Haverhill and was the democratic candidate in 1876 and in 1877 came to Lowell. He has resided in this city continuously ever since, first as senior member of the well known law firm of Pratt & Quinn and more recently head of the firm of Pratt & Devine with offices in the Hildroth building. He is married and resides in Huntington street. Mr. Pratt was city solicitor for the city of Lowell in 1884 and '85 and

THE STATE CONVENTION

Of the Republicans Was Held in Boston Today

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—The representatives of the republican party in Massachusetts consisting of the delegates and candidates for office chosen at last week's primaries gathered in Tremont temple today to ratify through what generally has been an interesting state convention the state ticket and adopt a platform on which those leaders of the party are to stand during the campaign.

It was the first convention under the new act and although the power to select state candidates had been taken from it and placed in the hands of the people, there was still sufficient interest in today's proceedings to attract the greater portion of the 2600 entitled to vote.

The platform committee which had agreed on nearly all the articles last night held a final meeting today to enable several of the country members who came in late to glance over its provisions. This declaration of principles, the address of the permanent chairman, Congressman Robert O. Harris, and the speech of acceptance by Lieut. Gov. Frothingham, who was nominated for governor at the primaries, formed the principal features of the program for today's proceedings.

There was considerable delay in starting the convention. After Charles Hatfield, chairman of the state committee, had called the delegates to order, and Rev. Dr. Hamilton, president of Tufts college, had offered prayer, the proceedings moved rapidly. Three committees, one on credentials, another on permanent organization and a third on resolutions were appointed.

Just before the committee on resolutions went into executive session former State Rep. Wood of Cambridge issued a statement to the press in which he said that he had made every effort to submit the principles in which he sincerely believed but he found that the resolutions committee was composed of the conservative element of the party and that while he pushed his fight to the last ditch he believed that harmony was needed more than a serious contest. He felt, he said, that any further effort on his part might split the party.

The committee on credentials and permanent organization reported quickly, the last named body naming Congressman Harris of Bridgewater as permanent chairman of the convention.

Congressman Harris was then introduced and began his address. The platform was unusually long

Took Care to Avoid Damaging Buildings at Tripoli

ROME, Oct. 4.—It is officially stated that Vice Admiral Faravelli sent a message to the government stating that the bombardment of main batteries at Tripoli commenced at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and continued until sunset. The batteries replied to the fire without effect.

The vice admiral intimates that the attack will be resumed today. The greatest care was taken by the Italian gunners to avoid damaging the buildings of the town.

Only a lighthouse and one of the batteries were destroyed.

The despatch to the government was timed at Tripoli at 7.45 o'clock last night.

The message to the government from Vice Admiral Faravelli follows: "On board the battleship Benedetto Tuesday, 7.45 p. m.

A bombardment was commenced at 3.30 p. m. on the principal batteries of Tripoli and was continued until sunset. The batteries responded to the Italian fire but without effect. The bombardment will be continued tomorrow until the destruction of the batteries has been completed.

"Great care was taken during the bombardment not to damage the city. Only a lighthouse upon one of the batteries was destroyed."

Italian ships are patrolling between Sicily and Malta and between Malta and the "heel" of Italy. These vessels signaled the presence of Turkish torpedo boats up to last night, when they were chased out of the patrol area, though they managed to escape under the protection of darkness and aided by stormy weather.

The military experts consider the equipment of the troops perfect. This equipment includes provisions of all kinds, landing boats, movable camps and field hospitals with accommodations for thousands of patients, besides hospital ships.

The report that Montenegro is mobilizing has any is officially denied and it is declared that the rumor was purposely circulated with a view to bringing about complications which are unlikely to ensue as the powers have agreed to prevent the extension of the conflict outside the zone which is indispensable in connection with Italy's occupation of Tripoli. The Turkish prisoners in Italy who already number more than 600 and are held at Taranto, Agosta, Brindisi, Naples, Leghorn and Genoa will be assembled in the large barracks near Casserta. There the captured ones will be prisoners of honor. The soldiers and sailors will be watched by sentinels under the discipline of their own officers and will enjoy considerable liberty. All will be well treated.

Rear Admiral Aubrey in command of the Italian fleet at Tripoli reports that in bombarding that city he spared all the consulates, hospitals, churches, monasteries and convents, aiming only at the fortifications. Discrimination was easy, as the range of the Turkish cannon was so short that the ships could approach the city closely and so take accurate aim.

The bombardment was protracted because of their extreme care to avoid useless bloodshed and to respect the homes of non-combatants and the mosques. Moreover, the firing was at long intervals and Admiral Aubrey and Vice Admiral Faravelli expected at any moment to see the white flag run up, indicating a desire to surrender. The fire from the Turks was absolutely harmless, one of their shots reached the ships. In fact Admiral Aubrey ordered that the ships abstain from using guns of the larger calibre as they were unnecessary. From the battleships officers could plainly see the effect of their shots and realized that in a few hours all the forts might be dismantled and their batteries silenced. This, however, would be at the cost of the lives of all the defenders, a result of which the fleet was trying to avoid. Scarcely any of the population remains in Tripoli, the city having been abandoned immediately when the bombardment began yesterday afternoon.

Official circles deny reports of dissension among the powers. ROME, Oct. 4.—Official circles ridicule the reports which are described as being circulated with the obvious intention of misguiding public opinion concerning incidents between Italy and Austria and of dissensions among the powers regarding their attitude toward Italy.

As a matter of fact, it is stated that what is now occurring was arranged among the states in the triple alliance with the adherence of France and Great Britain who are bound by the agreement.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH

Wants to Seize Land to Establish a Comfort Station

A representative of the Turner Center Creamery was before the board of health yesterday afternoon to make answer to a complaint charging the Turner Center Creamery with selling buttermilk and cream in whole-sale cans to drug stores and other stores to be disposed of later by the quart or pint direct from the can. The representative, Mr. Moody, said that to his knowledge the buttermilk was sold in cans only to those who did not retail it, and he said it was down to him when he heard that many stores were selling Turner Center milk and cream right from the can. He was asked to furnish a list of drug stores and other stores where he furnished milk and he was told that the board would look after the stores and that the creamery would have to stop selling milk to storekeepers who were not living up to the rules and regulations of the board of health.

Mrs. Marshall appeared before the board to answer to complaints that her property numbered 11-17 Riverside street was in an unsanitary condition. She asked for an extension of time, in which to plan some changes, but the board voted to deny the extension of time asked for, and the notice, which has already been served, still stands, and the property will have to be made more sanitary immediately.

A Trumbull man, named Bell, appeared before the board, in answer to complaints, alleging that he had broken the quarantine placed on his house, due to sickness in the family. The board further placed an embargo on his milk, saying that the only conditions under which he could let any of his milk enter Lowell, was to have nothing to do with the milk himself, and not let the milk touch anything that was connected with the house. This he promised to do, but when an agent went there Monday, he found Bell taking water to the barn from the house, to wash the cans with. He was given another chance and told to make heating arrangements in the barn, so that all the work can be done there. A little later it became known that Bell had taken his daughter, who is known to have diphtheria, to the doctor's in a carriage, whereupon the board voted to cut off his milk from Lowell until the quarantine card has been removed from the door and the house fumigated.

On motion of Mr. Osgood, it was voted to obtain an opinion from the city solicitor, relative to the seizure of land in order to establish a comfort station.

U. S. ENGINEERS

SAY THE BATTLESHIP MAINE CAN BE FLOATED

HAVANA, Oct. 4.—An examination of the after section of the battleship Maine, comprising about one-third the full length of the ship, has convinced the engineers of the feasibility of building a bulkhead in it and floating it out of the cofferdam. The fitting of a bulkhead will be commenced as soon as the material for it is received from the north.

There is still a possibility that the engines of the battleship are in such condition that they can be restored to service and with temporary boilers permit of the wreck proceeding out of the harbor under her own steam. This course probably will not be adopted, however, on account of the expense that would be incurred.

The next two months probably will be devoted to a continuation of the work of dissecting by gas, from the shattered portions of the hull, from which more bodies may be recovered. A portion of one of the forward magazines is now visible, but its condition does not warrant a conjecture regarding the character of the explosion which sank the Maine.

MECK'S MATINEES

AS A LOWELL PATRON SEES THEM

"The world is so full of a number of things"—the amusement world, that it is a relief to drop into a play house where one's mind is permitted to follow a certain line of thought to its finish. I have just discovered this, and while the transition from light to dark, from gay, slap stick to gems from grand opera may be highly diverting, it is like slippers and an open fire on a dreary night to settle down in a stock house and respond to the development of the play presented.

Some weeks ago it was remarked that Lowell would have a surfeit of stock companies; we have been spared that and favored with only one—a good one.

"Drop into Hathaway's some afternoon and tell me what you think of the new company," said the head of the house (your journalist) at breakfast.

"But I don't like it."

"Oh, forget it! It's because you don't like and are not matinee-crazed that I want your opinion; though you used to give up a whole day to Boston and stand in a mob line at the ticket office endeavoring to see these same players."

"But that was at—"

"Exactly! And if they were worth while then, why not here? Go up."

"Aren't you forgetting someone?" interrupts the head again.

"Yes, mean Donald Meek?"

"Yes."

"No; one doesn't forget Donald Meek; one cannot. I can't call him the whole show, his support is so strong, but he is the keystone and a particularly fine one."

Then I reminded the head that I knew Meek years ago and knew him as an artist in almost every meaning of the word; his fingers are nimble and expressive in use of brush and pencil; his wash drawings are good and his chalk work equally so—and, listen! Meek writes creditable verse! Sometimes gay, sometimes cynical, often philosophical, but always poetry; never degenerate.

"And now he is singing," comments the head.

"Now? Why, he sang years ago! Boston demanded it and he had to; he sang there in musical comedy many weeks."

"The afternoon doesn't seem to have bored you," dryly remarks the head.

And I frankly admit that I was not bored! That I was entertained and rested instead and came away with head clear and spirits bright, with appreciation of our own stock company and gratitude that we have one good one.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

Ever on the look-out to please his patrons Manager Stevens yesterday shifted an unpopular number on the program and substituted the Banjo girl, a pair of comely Southern girls who give a pretty and dainty singing act including real Darkey dialect songs, some of which are of their own composition and unpublished. These girls are real singers and not "coon" singers, and they bring out the entire harmonies of the Sunny South in most acceptable manner. The marvel of the bill continues to the strikingly beautiful "Poems in Marble" of Paul Seldoms an Seldoms' Venus, Miss Anna Claron, the most beautifully formed woman now before the public. Eleven exquisite groups are given exploiting some of the most noted works of art, Miss Claron posing alone in three, "Diana," "The Voice of Spring," and "The Awakening of Galatea." Little Lord Robert, the midsize comedian looked over Lowell yesterday in an automobile and returned with a whole lot of original jokes on the town. He is the funniest performer of his inches on the vaudeville stage today. Van Hoven, the Mad Magician, is all over the theatre and keeps his audience on the broad grin. If he didn't perform a trick, at all he'd still be a bit for his line of talk is as funny as it is unceasing. The Pendleton sisters are graceful dancers and they exemplify numerous styles of the topsychoreon art with equal grace and agility. "Refined In" is a most entertaining comedy of the west and is capitally presented. Arthur Van and his musical girls are a most acceptable attraction while the motion pictures are up to the minute. A reception will be held by Lord Robert after the matinee performance this afternoon.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The many friends of Harry Hopkins, the Lowell boy who is appearing as a member of Our Stock Company at the Merrimack Square theatre this week, will no doubt be pleased to learn that he is making a pronounced success of his work. For one with such limited professional experience, the Lowell boy has done wonderfully well and gives encouraging promise for the future. Mr. Weston is especially pleased with his work. The piece is a most entertaining one-act play and shares with the best out on by Mr. Weston and his associate players since their coming to Lowell several weeks ago.

Rose Pitonof and her diving and swimming act is the big feature for the week and daily large crowds have been highly entertained by her work. She performs in a large tank containing several thousand gallons of water, and by the use of a series of mirrors the interior of the tank may be plainly seen from all parts of the theatre. What makes her act the more enjoyable is the apparent pleasure which Rose takes in her dips into the water. She giggles and laughs and splashes about in regular girlish manner. The other acts are excellent.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

"A Gentleman from Mississippi" is drawing large and most enthusiastic audiences to the Hathaway theatre this week and an excellent presentation of this sterling American drama is being given under the personal stage direction of Mr. Donald Meek. In order to secure the original manuscript of "A Gentleman from Mississippi" an unusually large royalty was paid but it is Mr. Meek's policy to have the best attractions available regardless of the cost and hence the elaborate production seldom attempted in stock which is now delighting the patrons of the theatre. Next week a prime local favorite, "Jack Chagman," will be seen at the Hathaway in the leading role in "Texans."

ST. ANTHONY'S CHURCH

RT. REV. BIS HOP DE SILVA

An Addition is to be Made to Structure in Central Street

Contrary to the report that St. Anthony's church in Central street had been sold to St. Peter's parish, the parishioners of that parish, which is composed solely of Portuguese, are contemplating the idea of finishing the church.

A rumor was circulated in town to the effect that St. Anthony's church and rectory had been sold to St. Peter's parish for the sum of $60,000, and that the church building was to be converted into a parochial school, while the rectory was to serve as a home for the nuns who were to be in charge of the school.

His Grace Bishop de Silva, who is acting pastor of the parish since the departure of Fr. Rosa, who went to the Azores on account of failing health, when approached by a representative of The Sun this morning on this question, said there was no foundation to the rumor, and instead of selling their church, the parishioners were making efforts to complete the building. "The parish is in good financial standing," continued the bishop, "and I cannot see how this false statement got about. The old wooden church in Corham street is for sale and has been on the market for some time and that is probably what got people saying that the church in Central street had been sold. However, as I said, the buildings are not sold and are not to be sold."

The parishioners are now organizing an entertainment to be held in the church on Thanksgiving night, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the building fund.

Bishop de Silva is Archbishop O'Connell's representative in all the Portuguese parishes throughout the diocese, and he is acting pastor of St. Anthony's church, this city, as well as St. Peter and St. Paul's parishes, Lawrence.

St. Anthony's church, this city, was built in November, 1907, and the structure consists of a one-story granite

ENTERS SEMINARY

Former Lowell Teacher to Enter Priesthood

The many Lowell friends of Prof. Joseph A. Malone, for the past several years a teacher at the McGill (Catholic) preparatory school at Mobile, Ala., but formerly of this city, will be interested to learn that he has entered the seminary of Mount St. Mary's college at Emmittsburg, Md., his old Alma Mater, to study for the priesthood. Professor Malone is a native of Brooklyn, N. Y., but after receiving his A. B. at Mount St. Mary's college came to Lowell and became identified with the Allen Bros., then well known grocers in this city and relatives. After a short time he received an appointment in the Catholic editorial office of the South. Recently he visited Lowell and while here announced his intention of entering the seminary. He is a cousin of Dr. William P. and Mr. Thomas B. Lawler of this city and a brother of Rev. Augustus S. Malone of Arlington, Mass.

RETURN TO WORK
CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Twelve carmen who left the Illinois Central shops at Burnside last Saturday when the general strike of shopmen began, returned to their work today. Railroad officials declare that many of the strikers have applied for their old places. Representatives of the unions deny these statements.

STRIKE IS SETTLED SEASON IS OPENED

The Strikers Are to be Reinstated R. L. O'Brien Before the Congregational Club

DUBLIN, Oct. 4.—The strike declared on the Irish railroads by the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants Sept. 21 was finally settled today. An earlier agreement was held up when the companies refused to reinstate certain strikers in places filled by other men. The strikers abandoned their original grievance, which was their objection to handling lumber shipped by a firm which was having trouble with its employees.

By the final arrangement the companies agree to reinstate 90 per cent. of the strikers at once and the remaining 10 per cent. where vacancies occur. They will not dismiss the new men who were taken on during the strike.

REV. A. FREDERIC DUNNELLS, Pres. Lowell Congregational Club.

opening meeting of the Lowell Congregational club of the season of 1911-12, held in the Highland church last evening.

The attendance was unusually large, and Editor O'Brien's talk was thoroughly enjoyed. The exercises opened with a social hour in the ladies' parlor, after which an excellent dinner was served. The church quartet sang a number of selections that were most acceptable. Rev. A. F. Dunnells, president of the club, presided, and Rev. F. G. Alger, chairman of the home work committee, reported on the progress of the churches of the denominations along special lines.

Mr. O'Brien's reminiscences were both interesting and amusing, and showed many glimpses of public life at Washington. In opening he related several amusing incidents of the great national conventions. At the convention at which Senator Julius C. Burroughs was temporary chairman, that gentleman's speech ran on at great length, and two Chicago ladies in the gallery became impatient. "Did you say," asked one, "that he is the temporary chairman?" He sounds to me like a permanent chairman."

At the last democratic convention at

Denver, when a man from Maryland objected to the proposition for the celebration of Lincoln's birthday unless it was coupled with a resolution for the celebration of the birthday of Robert E. Lee, he was sidetracked by an order to proceed to the roll call of states. Jumping on a table, the Maryland man loudly demanded his right to be heard, while in another part of the house delegates from other states were responding to their names in a roll call. Finally the secretary shouted, leaving forward toward the man on the table: "The chairman tells me to inform you that your time has expired."

The speaker then incidentally spoke on direct nominations and the present tendency to put the national convention out of existence, except as a ratification meeting. "Of course," he said, "it is a good thing to nominate a governor in a direct primary, but a logical reason can be found for not nominating a president in the same way."

Speaking of our method of choosing a vice president, he said: "There is an office of very great importance, when we consider that the man may have to assume the duties of the presidency, yet men have been chosen in the past in the most utterly haphazard way. The convention usually opens Tuesday or Wednesday, and about Friday night it has nominated its presidential candidate, and the men are anxious to get home. The convention comes together with a great display of attendance, and quite a snap judgment is exercised in the selection of a vice president. At the last convention the republicans nominated James S. Sherman, and the democrats nominated John W. Kern of Indiana. Both of those men were very much in the down and out class in their respective states, and districts. But the most peculiar nomination was that of Henry G. Davis for the vice presidency on the ticket with Alton B. Parker. He was nominated with the idea that, being a very rich man, he would contribute largely to the fund. Now, we are all engaged in business, and Mr. Davis, in working his way up from a freight brakeman to a multimillionaire, had not contracted the habit of separating himself from his money. He was a man of pretty good self-control on that score. At a dinner of the Gridiron club in Washington, after the nomination, one of the features was a gypsy fortune teller, who told the fortunes of men made up to represent the various candidates. When Henry G. Davis passed, the fortune teller scrutinized the lines of his hand very carefully, and then said: 'Mr. Davis, your fortune is just exactly the same as it was before your nomination.'"

One of Mr. O'Brien's best stories was told of Chauncey M. Depew, in his last term in the senate. Mr. Taft had nominated for justice of the supreme court Judge Lorton of Tennessee, who was 66 years old. There were objections to the appointment of a man over 60 years of age, and a delegation of New York lawyers went down to talk with Senator Depew, in opposition to the confirmation of Judge Lorton. On their way down, it occurred to them that Mr. Depew was himself 75 years old at that time, and that it was a delicate matter to put up this objection. So they offered the objection that Judge Lorton did not come from the right circuit. To this objection, Mr. Depew answered that he could not be governed by any such narrow, parochial view, and inquired what also the delegation had against Judge Lorton. Finally the chairman of the convention blurted out: "He is 66 years old." "Well," said Depew, "I wouldn't worry about that; he'll mature."

Senator Vest of Missouri, the speaker said, was a man of great vigor, incisiveness and force. At a time when he was in anticipation of death, a friend called to see him, and by way of encouragement, called his attention to Mr. Morrill of Vermont, a much older man, and still in vigorous health, the suggestion being that Mr. Vest would recover and outlive Mr. Morrill. Said Senator Vest: "Don't mention Morrill to me. They will have to shoot him on the morning of the resurrection."

The speaker referred also to another peculiar phase of American life, shown in the retirement of the ex-presidents. "There is a man who has held an office the power and scope of which puts all the limited monarchies of Europe to shame. Yet that man suddenly drops to the position of a private citizen, oftentimes into complete obscurity. The only exception that I know is Theodore Roosevelt, who of course is not an obscure man, and never will be."

"Mr. Roosevelt," continued the speaker, "was the most striking occupant of the White House at close range. A man of almost magical mental qualities; a man who seemed to know really more than it was normal and natural and proper that a man should know, in the lines of biology, literature and science. Distinguished men in science and letters were entertained by him."

In closing, Mr. O'Brien told the ladies present that the country is indebted to the influence of Mrs. Taft for the presidency of Mr. Taft. "Mr. Taft, in all sincerity and truth, never wanted to be president of the United States. His plans were always worked out on a different basis. He was a lawyer and a judge and he did look forward to a place on the supreme bench. During Mr. Roosevelt's administration there came a very important vacancy on the bench, and when Mr. Taft's name was mentioned the matter was brought out that he might be president, if he did not take this Mr. Roosevelt thought that Mr. Taft's chances for the presidency were larger than those of any other man in the country. But finally all agreed that it was the duty of Mr. Taft to accept the position on the bench, and the case was considered settled; but Mr. Taft asked the president not to give out the fact to the newspapers, until he had had a day or two to talk it over with Mrs. Taft. The president said that it was all very well to talk it over with his wife, but that it was the man himself who must be the judge of his own destiny. Mr. Root talked with equal force on the same idea, and Mr. Taft wholly agreed but still persisted in wanting to talk it over with Mrs. Taft, in order to make things a little pleasanter. 'And you know,' concluded the speaker, 'he did not take that office. Mrs. Taft stuck courageously to the idea of the presidency for her husband.'"

At the close of the address Mr. A. K. Whitcomb offered a resolution expressing the appreciation of the club which was responded to by a rising vote. The meeting was then closed with the singing of "America."

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The Highlanders dropped a double-header to the Red Sox yesterday, Boston winning easily in each game. Hall was effective in the first, allowing but four hits and striking out nine men. In the second Wood was almost invincible. Not a man got on base until the sixth, when Williams walked. Daniels made the only clean hit off Wood in the same inning. Wood struck out 13 men, getting Daniels and Dolan three times. Every New Yorker but Gardner struck out in this game. The second game was called in the eighth inning, on account of darkness. The scores:

DIAMOND NOTES

John McGraw is credited with making changes in the personnel of the Giants in midseason that enabled the team to become a factor in the fight for the pennant. Without a word of warning he got rid of Al Bridwell and Mike Donlin, who were traded to Boston, and put Arthur Devlin on the bench. Placing Herzog on third base and Fletcher in short field, he increased the speed in the infield and also strengthened the team at the bat and in base stealing. In making these changes McGraw showed no sentiment. Bridwell and Devlin, old friends and associates of the Giants' manager, were shooed because they had slowed up. Donlin once a popular idol, was allowed to go because there was no room for him in the outfield. Other managers might have hesitated before dismissing old favorites with hardly a day's notice, but McGraw saw a chance to put the Giants in the race and he jumped at it. Furthermore the leader of the New Yorks is receiving praise for his loyalty to Fred Clarke and Rube Marquard. When these men were necessarily sacrificed McGraw did not turn them down. He told them to pay no attention to adverse criticism but to keep on trying to do their level best. Because he has possessed courage enough to take his own men off the field McGraw has convinced the public that his fearless management counts in the long run.

"The tell me the Giants will beat the Athletics because Catcher Thomas can't stop their stealing," says Jimmy Callahan of the White Sox. "In order to get a chance to steal the Giants must get on the bases first. In my opinion they will find this task extremely difficult when Bender, Combs and Plunk face them. The series with the Cubs proves to my satisfaction that the Giants are not unusually strong with the bat and that a catcher like Archer can stop their piffing. Thomas is Mack's best catcher and the way he threw out the Cubs in the world's series last fall proved that he couldn't be trifled with. Thomas has been throwing to base stealing, he'll stop the Giants as easily as he stopped the Cubs. The Athletics are the best hitters in either major league. Depend upon it that they will find a way to solve Mathewson and Marquard. If Meyers can break up their hit and run game I'll be very much surprised."

Bugs Raymond has been placed on the New York ineligible list. He can't play ball in any of the organized leagues. Because of his foolishness he has lost a chance to share in the money money, which may amount to $3000 per man. Raymond is said to have repented, but it's a safe bet that the New York club will never try him again.

Although he has signed a three years contract with the Cleveland club, Harry Davis of the Athletics is quoted as saying that he would welcome a release from the engagement. George Stovall, the present manager of the Cleveland, has received so much praise from Cleveland fans that Davis believes he may experience trouble in the Forest City if he assumes the job. Stovall at the last moment may be retained, it is reported, in which event Davis will be allowed to go elsewhere. If such proves to be the case it wouldn't be surprising if Davis took hold of the Highlanders for 1912. It is believed that President Farrell would sign Davis in a jiffy if the latter could secure his release from the Cleveland contract.

THE BROCKTON FAIR NELSON IS OUTCLASSED

35,000 People Attended Opening The Former Champion Was Defeated By Young Saylor

BROCKTON, Oct. 4.—All records for attendance at the opening day of a Brockton fair were broken yesterday when 35,000 people crowded through the gates. A good part of the 35,000 bought and tied on themselves ribbons inscribed with the words "I'm out for a good time," and what with the hair-raising stunts of Aviators Lincoln Beachey and Harry Atwood, several spills on the big racing track, and bigger, better and busier attractions of every kind than ever before, all of the 35,000 got the good time that the fair was called for.

It was Children's day. All the Brockton schools were closed, and every child in Brockton went out to the fair grounds and bought a whistle and blew himself in one way or another. They were admitted free.

Harry N. Atwood, who holds the world's record for long distance flight, brought his aeroplane over the road from Boston yesterday morning, towing it behind his automobile. While passing through Randolph, the aeroplane broke loose. In leaping from the automobile to capture it, Frank Lawson, Atwood's mechanic, sprained his knee. This, and one or two small injuries to the aeroplane, kept Atwood from getting into the air until 5 o'clock.

An even larger crowd is expected today, and extra special trains have been arranged so that all the visitors will be able to reach and leave Brockton easily.

Keen competition marked the several classes in the horse show. The entry list was the largest ever recorded and represented stables in all parts of the east. Blue ribbon honors were well distributed. Mrs. J. S. Walsh of New York, Mrs. James B. McKay of New York, the Hon. Clifford Sifton of Ontario and Mrs. Hugh Bancroft of California, each showing two winners.

Harry L. Pierce of Leominster took the greatest number of ribbons, getting one first and six seconds. Others who won places included Julian Morris, Keswick, Va.; Edward McLean, Washington; William P. Kearney, Montreal; J. B. Taylor, Watertown, N. Y.; and Mrs. Orme of Newport, besides several local stables.

The judges were: W. H. Moyer,

Newport; C. A. Baudoin, Rye, N. Y.; J. G. West, Tannersville, N. Y.; and Frank Lowry, Pittsburg.

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilette, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 2, 1911. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

The republicans are trying to make it appear that Governor Foss is in some way responsible for the defeat of reciprocity and for the high cost of living. Is Foss responsible for the action of the Canadian parliament or the extortions of such pampered aggregations of freebooters as the sugar trust, the beef trust and the scores of other trusts which are enabled by an oppressive tariff to rob the people? The excessive tariff is the mother of trusts and the republican party fixed the tariff.

POINTS IN THE NEW CHARTER

Some opponents of the new charter try to delude the people by saying it is a newspaper charter, just as if the newspapers have any selfish interest in its adoption. The newspaper that does not favor the adoption of the proposed charter would be unworthy of public confidence because it would be untrue to the city's interests and to the public welfare.

The Sun has advocated a new charter for the past ten years. We advocated a modification of the old charter until the legislature refused to let it be submitted; but we did not dream at that time that the people of Lowell would ever be offered a charter so radical in the powers it confers upon the voters.

What is remarkable in regard to the situation at the present time is, that the most conservative men in the city seeing the drift of affairs at city hall are in favor of adopting the new charter. They foresee the outcome of continuing the present method of doing business. The system is wrong, and unless the men in office adopt extraordinary measures to promote the city's interests the results will be disappointing. The same men under the new charter might do excellent work. But with the present charter in force we need never expect satisfactory results. When there is not a deadlock between the two branches of the city council there is usually a deadlock between the mayor and the city council. Thus the business of the city is obstructed and delayed. Then the contention between the two political parties is another source of delay and often results in the holdup of important public business pending a satisfactory understanding between the politicians.

With the common council abolished and the party designations dropped, the deadlocks and other causes of delay would disappear. It would seem that anybody who wishes to have our city government improved and our city to prosper should favor both these changes. The time was when party government in municipal affairs was insisted upon very strenuously, but such changes have come about in other cities that those who favored party government have been convinced that better results can be obtained when the business of the city is conducted in a manner similar to that of the large corporations. Under the new system the board of aldermen would be reduced in number; but the members would be elected at large as usual and the municipal board of five members would include the mayor who would have a vote in the council and no veto power. The members being paid, their services would be required to give their entire time to the city's business. Each would have charge of one or more departments and would be held strictly responsible for results in those departments. In this manner each member would be desirous of making the best showing possible in the departments under his charge and thus every department in the city would be properly looked after. We should then see the city's business transacted promptly and in a business-like manner. If the people wanted public baths, a public hall or a contagious hospital, the municipal board would take the most practical steps to supply the public need in each particular case. The board would make the best showing possible with the money placed at its disposal as each department would have to keep within its appropriation. The commission would be required to publish monthly statements of all receipts and expenditures and to keep the department accounts open to public inspection. At the end of each year the municipal board would be required to cause a full and complete examination of the books and accounts by competent experts, the results to be published for the information of the taxpayers. In this manner the people would have an opportunity to judge of how the finances of each department are applied. Under such a charter, if there seems to be anything in the nature of extravagance the voters can readily point it out and bring the member of the board who is responsible therefor to account.

So it is all along the line from the highest office to the lowest. Every official must transact his business in the open and be ready at any time to give an account of his stewardship to the people. If any member of the municipal board fails to perform his duty, is negligent or incompetent, the people can remove him from office by the recall. If the municipal board fails to enact any law demanded by the people the voters themselves can force the adoption of said law. If a bad measure be enacted the people can stop it by the referendum. If a franchise be granted in the public streets it cannot take effect until the people have had time to look into the matter, and then if they see anything suspicious in the grant they can hold it up for submission to the voters at a special or regular election. Thus the supreme power is placed in the hands of the people, and they can use it at their discretion whenever the interests of the city seem to call for radical measures in order to compel the officials to do their full duty.

Thus it appears that the people would have full control at all times over their elected officials. They will be able to force necessary legislation or to block unpopular legislation. A charter of this kind grants the people so much additional power that we cannot conceive of any good reason for opposing it. It is a thoroughly democratic measure in every sense. Its object is to give the citizens more for their money by systematic management of the city's affairs, by entering responsibility and giving the people absolute control over all elected officials.

Under the new charter all the wards would be equally represented in the municipal board. The interests of all would be attended to better than ever before and it would be found that five men all the time on the job would be far better than seven times the number holding municipal wrangle-fests once or twice a month while the city's business has to run itself in the meantime. The officials under the new charter would serve the people whereas those under the present charter often defy the people.

SEEN AND HEARD

A New York despatch has it that a Lowell newspaper man dined too long in the dining-room of a Grecian Inn, Saturday, and came within an ace of being carried to Athens. On account of his rotund proportions the Greeks took him for an American general going over to lead the Greeks against the Mohammedans and when he rushed from the dining room toward the gang plank that was being taken in they thought it was a case of cold feet.

Lord Kitchener at a dinner in New York praised temperance. "We are all temperate nowadays," said the great soldier. "To get drunk is an unheard-of thing among gentlemen. If a gentleman ever gets drunk he has, you may be sure, a remarkable excuse to offer."

"A major, after a military ball at Blima, came home. I regret to say, drunk. His shocked wife said to him: 'O Reginald, aren't you ashamed?' To return from the ball masqué in that condition?"

"Don't blame me, my dear," said the major. "You must remember that the character I assumed was that of a sponge."

Sergeant Atkins had served for many years in foreign climes, and now he was traveling back to the village where he was born.

In the carriage of the local train that carried him over the last stage of his journey he related some of the strange adventures which had befallen him. And the workmen present listened in open-mouthed wonder.

"In that battle," said the soldier, "we fought from 3 in the morning till 8 at night, and never stopped a moment."

"Sounds all right," said the only doubting one. "But—there's just one thing I don't understand."

"Indeed?" said the surmised warrior. "And what is it you don't understand?"

"Well, what I want to know is this," answered the horny-handed one in a tone of subdued triumph. "How did you manage about the dinner hour, eh?"

The charge is made by a writer in a western paper that "When a woman hasn't anything else to do she changes her dress and her complexion."

Such is the sort of abuse to which the fairer portion of creation has been subjected since the birth of the newspaper and the magazine. Through these vehicles of communication it is that many a puerile creature, dignified by the name of "man" endeavors in his puny, contemptible way to belch forth the venomous feelings of hatred which he harbors against the women of this nation. Such an individual, there is not the least doubt, is but one of those who is kept in the straight and narrow path and with a nickel in his pocket only through the angelic solicitude and painstaking watchfulness of

NEW FACTS ABOUT ECZEMA

For years eczema was thought to be incurable, and is so considered today by many people. But since the commissioning of Cadum, eczema is now a blessing to many who have suffered for years from distressing, stubborn and disfiguring skin diseases. One of the ingredients of Cadum is an extract from the tree Juniperus Oxycedrus, which has a soothing and healing effect when the skin is inflamed, irritated or diseased. The first application relieves the itching and burning, and the skin soon begins to heal. Cadum is good for eczema, pimples, sores, eruptions, rashes, ringworm, scaly skin, itching, irritation, chafings, etc. 10c and 25c.

CHINESE RAILWAYS

Great Progress in Their Construction

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—It is evident in many ways that the determination of the Chinese government to follow a definite policy and secure funds from abroad for the development of the great trunk lines is to lead to immediate action on many schemes and early activity in actual construction work all over the empire.

In the north the construction of the Kirin-Changchun line has been delayed somewhat but a line over the mountain involved will be run temporarily and it is expected that rails will be run into Kirin this year. The earth work is about 70 per cent. complete. On this line the construction work is being accelerated somewhat by a train of two thirty-four ton locomotives and ten thirty-ton cars and a brake van, all constructed at the Tongshan shops of the Chinese Imperial railway administration. Work on this line has been delayed by the lack of labor due to the plague. The final survey on the Kulin-Changchun line has been completed and preparations for actual construction work are said to be complete.

The construction of the parallel lines of the Manchurian railway company from Taitshai has commenced, the shipment of rails and supplies from Japan being forced forward rapidly. The bridging of the many streams along the southern portion of the Peking railway is rapidly being completed most of the smaller structures being already in use.

The energetic work on the Szechwan line from Ichang in the direction of Wanchow is being continued and materials are now being transported over a section of about 52 1/2 miles, while work on the several tunnels is well advanced.

The Canton-Hankow line north from Canton has been completed and is ready for opening to mile 67. A mile beyond the present terminus of the line at Koumshieh. However, the line is so nearly complete to mile 75, only a small hill over which the natives of the district have prevented action being in the way of almost immediate opening to the latter point, that the opening to mile 67 may be delayed until the line can be opened to mile 85. Construction to mile 85 is so far advanced that if the objection of the natives can be removed the line to that point can be in operation in a few weeks.

Construction on the Sunning railway has been delayed somewhat by financial conditions, but the line will soon be opened to Kingmoon on the Pearl River.

An interesting phase of the present railway development in China is the effect which it is even now having on the trade and trade prospects of various ports. Arrangements are now being made by the Nankai Viceroy to open to foreign trade the port at Pukow the Yangtze end of the Tientsin-Pukow railway. The people of that port are preparing to construct a bund along the river front for a mile so that the largest ships coming into Chinese ports may be accommodated. Kiukiang is preparing for similar development with the completion of its railway into the interior. In the south Yunnan is rapidly changing from merely the political capital of a province rich only in its possibilities to a lively trade centre. Its opening to the trade of the world can be only a matter of a short time. On the other hand Kongsyk, on the Sunning railway, was for a time the terminus of the road and enjoyed a boom in property and trade. The terminus of the railway at present, however, is near Kingmoon and is now overshadowed by its more fortunate rival.

BILLERICA

At the last meeting of the board of selectmen of Billerica, the latter decided not to allow out-of-town parties the use of the town hall in the future, except in the event of the townspeople being benefited.

The establishment of a fire hose station was also discussed at some length and the secretary of the board was instructed to ask for a figure on a certain plot of land at Jones' Corner which has been under consideration for the proposed new station, for which an appropriation of $600 was voted at a special town meeting held in July, the said money to be spent under the direction of the board of selectmen.

Robert F. Jacobs was appointed a public weigher and Edwin Stott, the local dealer of weights and measures, was appointed a special police officer on the recommendation of state commissioner of weights and measures.

TRADE ACTIVITY

BETWEEN UNITED STATES AND OTHER AMERICAN COUNTRIES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The October Sailing Dates Bulletin just issued by the Bureau of Statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor, gives again further evidence of the activity of trade between the United States and the American countries at the south.

The sailing dates announced from the various ports of the United States and ports at the south including in this item, Mexico, Central and South America, the West Indian Islands, number over 400 for the single month of October. While this total includes in a few instances more than one departure for a single vessel, the reason of the fact that a few of the vessels touch at more than one port of the United States, the grand total of departures for ports and countries to the south of us approximates 400 for the single month, while the October departures for the various ports and countries of the world run into the thousands.

This large number of vessel departures for the American countries lying south of the United States, running at the rate of approximately 400 a month, is incidental to the remarkably rapid growth in recent years in the trade of the United States with that part of the world. Imports from American countries and islands lying south of the United States have grown from 212 million dollars a decade ago, to 286 million in 1911, and the exports from the United States to those countries and islands have grown in the same time from 130 million dollars in 1901 to 220 million in 1911.

This rapid growth in trade with this section of the world is due in part, at least to the growing demand on the part of the United States for tropical and sub-tropical products, and the equally growing demand in the countries mentioned for manufactures. The value of the tropical and sub-tropical products brought into the United States has grown from 235 million dollars in 1900 to 636 million in 1910, and the figures for the fiscal year 1911 may show an even larger total, since coffee alone shows an increase of over 20 million dollars in imports in 1911 compared with 1910, cocoa, raw cotton, and numerous other articles also showing more or less increase. On the other hand the exports of manufactures from the United States for the fiscal year 1911 were over 900 million dollars, against 485 million a decade ago, and the value of all exports to South America alone 160 million dollars against 41 million a decade ago.

The Sailing Dates Bulletin above referred to shows departures from each port of the United States to the principal ports and countries of the world, port by port, line by line, and country by country, several weeks in advance of the actual sailing dates, and can be obtained free of charge on application to the Bureau of Statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

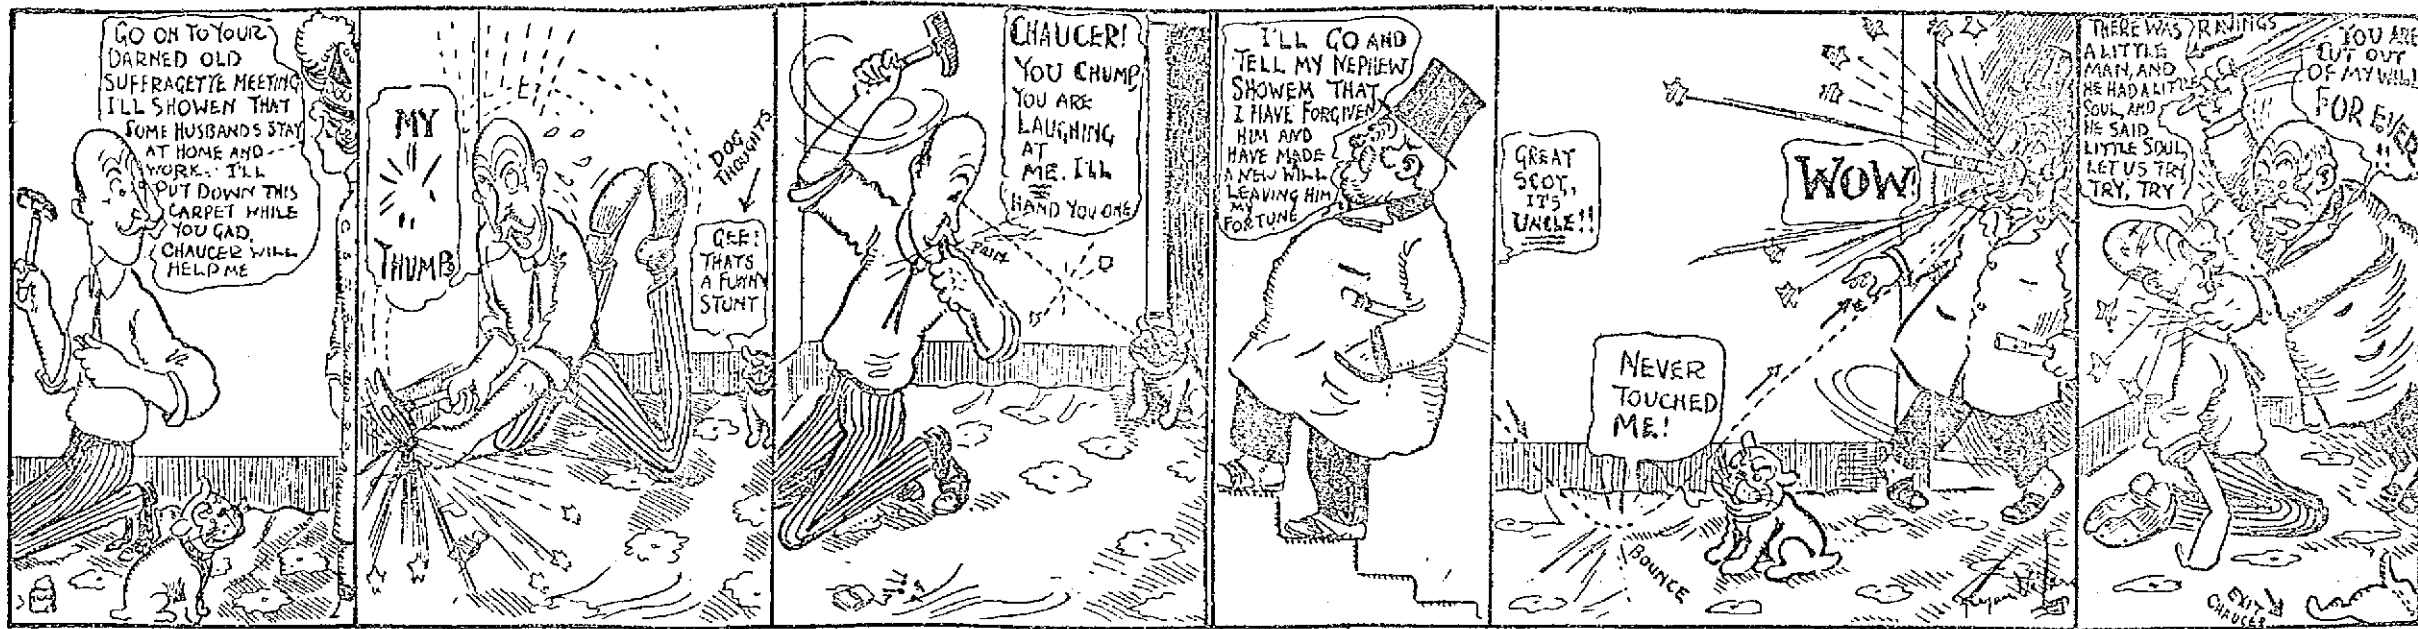

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so gives HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

ANOTHER ARREST

In Connection With the Death of Stern

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—A second arrest was made today in connection with the death of Adolf Stern, who was shot to death last July when three men robbed the jewelry store where he was employed of diamonds worth $10,000. The prisoner is William Demarest, 23 years old.

Demarest, the police say, is the man who indirectly brought about the arrest of Martin Garvey, who was captured last night and identified by two witnesses as the man who did the shooting. Miss Beatrice Wolfe told the police that she met Demarest at a picnic last summer and that he told her he knew who shot Stern. Stern's murder is receiving unusual attention from the Jewelers' Protective association.

The chauffeur was rewarded.

DR. PORRAS RECALLED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Political trickery, spying on the Panama government in its own legation here, and chicanery designed to cripple his candidacy for the presidency was alleged by Dr. Belisario Porras today to be the reasons underlying his recall from Washington. Dr. Porras attributed the whole affair to a political intrigue of President Arosemena.

INFANT MORTALITY

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 4.—Addresses and discussion of infant mortality featured the session of the Rhode Island state conference of charities and corrections here today. The speakers included Prof. Walter L. HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 4.—The green of Dartmouth and the white of Bowdoin met today here on Dartmouth's field for the first football game in two years with the betting favoring the home team. As Colby comes here on Saturday the match today was especially interesting as having a bearing on the Maine state championship which will be fought out later in the season. The Bowdoin team came over from Brunswick yesterday and was given a little light practice this morning, while the Dartmouth team, after a short run early in the day, spent most of its time before the game at recitations and lectures.

FLOODED DISTRICT

Gov. Tener Pays a Visit to Austin and Looks Over Situation

AUSTIN, Pa., Oct. 4.—In grizzling rain, with roads washed by mountain streams, Governor John K. Tener, who arrived here last night from Harrisburg started today on his tour of inspection of the destroyed district, including the dam of the Bayles Pulp & Paper Co., the going out of which resulted in the death, distress and privation which has overspread this village. Stronger than ever this morning was the general opinion that the governor's visit indicated that the state officials are looking over the situation with a view of ascertaining their authority in conducting an investigation as to the liability and responsibility for the condition of the dam. It is positively asserted by General Fred W. Flitz, vice-president of the state water supply commission, that at no time was the state made cognizant of the construction, repair or condition of the dam. State Senator Baldwin of counsel for the Bayles Pulp & Paper Co., was among those in close touch with Governor Tener during his visit here.

Aside from the governor's solemn, the situation early today assumed the routine of clearing away wreckage, the search for more bodies and renewed efforts to get men, not only as laborers but as cooks, whose services are sorely needed. The replenishing of food supplies, too, is taxing the energies of the commissary as well as the railroad. The 17 burrs from the state dispensary have been worked almost to the limit of their strength. A strict guard is still kept on the incumbered roads and none is allowed to pass without authority. Incoming trains carry only necessary baggage or freight and passenger coaches are locked at Keating summit to keep the idle curious from crowding aboard and coming on to Austin.

PENN. COACHES BELIEVE MARSHALL WILL BE ONE OF SEASON'S SENSATIONS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—Football coaches here believe that Marshall, Penn.'s right end, will develop into one of the season's sensations. Last year he played a brilliant end game on the freshman eleven. Not only is Marshall as fast on the cinder path as Tex Ramsdell, Penn.'s speed merchant last year, but he has more football instinct. Besides being a speedy and heavy end, Marshall is a good kicker.

ant and significant gathering ever held in North America.

Of the 500 delegates expected over 350 have arrived and an additional hundred, it is believed, will have put in an appearance when Rev. Henry Haight, president of the British Wesleyan conference, preaches the inaugural sermon at 10 o'clock.

Of the delegates to the conference about half will be from the American Methodist churches, including Canada, while the other 250 are from across the ocean.

The conference may prepare a pastoral address to be read from every Methodist pulpit in the world, in all languages.

This is the first time the conference has been held on this side of the Atlantic and probably will be the last for years to come. Some of the subjects to be discussed and spoken on will be:

"The church in the household," "The church and temperance," "The church and the child," "The church and social service," "The larger use of lay agency," and "The church and modern thought."

Each subject will be introduced by an address of twenty minutes, followed by general discussion, opened by a selected speaker who is given ten minutes; all others being limited to five minutes.

Among the prominent delegates in attendance is Bishop Walden of the Methodist Episcopal diocese of Cincinnati.

Two prominent Irish delegates are Rev. G. R. Woodward of Belfast and Rev. S. T. Boyd of Dublin. The former is connected with the Irish Christian Advocate, the official organ of the Methodist church in Ireland.

The negro delegates are present from the American Methodist Episcopal church.

Bishop Parks of Chicago, of the A. M. E. church has the distinction of being bishop over the largest diocese in the United States. He was appointed to that position in 1908. For the first time in the history of Methodism women will take part at the conference. Mrs. Lucy Ryder Meyer of Chicago, who is well known as the leader of the Deaconess movement in the United States, will speak. Mrs. George Robinson of Detroit is another delegate.

The conference will not deal with the woman suffrage question, except as the movement comes in contact with the work of the church.

Her Name Barely Mentioned at the Industrial Exposition in Boston

Why is it that the American Mason Safety Tread Company and the Bigelow Carpet Company have exhibits at the Industrial Exposition in Boston and yet in neither case is the name of Lowell mentioned?

Why is it that other cities not of half the industrial importance of Lowell—Fitchburg and Salem for example—make a big showing at the fair and Lowell has no exhibit worth mention? Who is responsible?

A Sun representative at the exposition yesterday looked in vain for any worthy exhibit from Lowell and found only a little one from the Textile school and a few others of little importance mentioning Lowell—nothing to represent the great, big, widely famed industries of Lowell.

PRESS OUTING

AND VISIT TO THE BOSTON INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION

About 100 newspaper men, representing the New England press, were given a delightful day's entertainment yesterday by the Boston chamber of commerce, the object being to interest the press outside of Boston in the proposed harbor improvements and also in the industrial exhibition now open in the Mechanics building in Huntington avenue.

In the forenoon the party was taken on a trip around the waterfront and down the harbor in the steamer Monitor. This afforded an opportunity to see the various docks, the navy yard and to judge of the extent of the improvements planned to make Boston second to none in the country as a commercial and shipping center.

At the conclusion of the trip luncheon was served at the Hotel Oxford and the party was afterwards escorted across the street to the fair building. Here the industrial exhibits are well worth seeing. Many of the cities of the state show fine exhibits but unfortunately there is nothing elaborate from Lowell. The Lowell Textile school has a small exhibit, and the American Mason Safety Tread company has a fine exhibit, but it does not mention Lowell. The same is true of the Bigelow Carpet company. The Lowell Lumber and Asbestos company has an exhibit and the Lowell school for industrial foremen makes a good showing.

Speakers included Hugh Bancroft of the Boston News Bureau, Frederick Roy Martin of the Providence Journal and Reservoir W. Pillsbury of the Manchester Union. The keynote of the speeches was the great future of New England and how best to give an impetus to the present boom. Practically all the speakers made mention of the railroad situation, especially the coming of the Grand Trunk.

Vice President Cobb gave a cordial welcome to the newspaper men and said the meeting was a step in the direction the chamber is working, to bring New England together. Boston and New England, he said, are so absolutely interdependent that one practically means the other. The chamber of commerce stands for the development of the industries of Boston and New England and he asked the help of the newspapers in its work.

Editor Martin of the Providence Journal delivered a witty speech, but took occasion to tell of the fight Rhode Island had over the entrance of the Grand Trunk railway into Providence. In spite of the strong opposition of the New Haven system Providence expects to see the cars of the Grand Trunk within a year, he said. "Anything that helps Rhode Island helps Boston," he added, "and because we have got the Grand Trunk is no reason why we wouldn't be glad to have you get it also."

"Boston is going to have the Grand Trunk," Mr. Whitman arose to remark. Rosecrans W. Pillsbury, of the Manchester Union, told of the resources of New Hampshire, saying that her vast water power, although undeveloped, already forms the basis of turning raw material into the finished product of a value of more than $15,000,000 a year.

The Lowell Lumber and Asbestos company has an exhibit and the Lowell school for industrial foremen makes a good showing. Exhibits representing the cities of Fitchburg, Salem, Newburyport and others attract wide attention and their prominent location leads the citizens of Lowell to inquire why the name of our city is not more conspicuous at the fair.

In the evening the party attended a banquet at Paul Tevere hall, over Merchants building and the speeches that followed voiced the desire to boom Boston as the great commercial port of New England and the east. Vice President John Chandler Cobb of the chamber presided at the banquet and Russell R. Whitman of the Boston American acted as toastmaster. The

"The sooner the city man reaches a state of mind that keeps constantly before him as a living, active, impelling force the fact that good health means real happiness the better off he will be," said the specialists who are sent here to introduce the remarkable new tonic, "Tona Vita."

"A great majority of those who have called at the drug store to have us explain the nature of our preparation," continued one of these specialists, "have frankly said that they were suffering from nervousness and were all run-down, with no energy or ambition. These symptoms indicate only one thing, and that is that they are suffering with the same trouble that affects more than half of the population."

"We are now living in a fast age. A high state of civilization makes us ambitious and in our mad rush to achieve success we neglect our health. We do not stop for repairs until our conditions are serious and alarming and we can't go any further along. Finally, in the grasp of debility, we lose our ambition and in its place assume a state of languor, decline and depression."

"Nervous debility is a miserable and most dreaded condition of the body. The organs are all disordered and nine times out of ten the system needs a complete rejuvenation. Nerve food is required, new blood is needed, and buoyant spirits are necessary to make us feel that we are once more in a healthy, original condition."

"We have a preparation that will accomplish this very thing. 'Tona Vita' will relieve those suffering from such complaints as nervousness, stomach trouble and bowel trouble, poor digestion, headache, pains in the back, constipation, poor circulation, cold feet, depression, and despondency. The preparation is pleasant to take, its effect is immediate, and it proves a lasting source of benefit and relief."

"Those of the public, whether man or woman, who are debilitated can see us between the hours of 9 a. m. and 8 p. m. at Hall & Lyons drug store. A free trial will be given to the first five hundred callers, provided their symptoms show them to be sufferers from nervous debility."

BARN IS DESTROYED

Fire in Lawrence Caused Loss of $5000

LAWRENCE, Oct. 4.—Fire destroyed the stable, wagon shed and confectionery store of George L. Wells, rear of 20 Woodland court, last evening, causing an estimated damage of $5000. Three horses, an automobile and other conveyances were burned.

Mr. Wells was burned on the face and hands while trying to rescue the horses. George Haigh, a member of Combination Company 6, had his wrist cut by glass. The loss is partly covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is in doubt.

BANK WINS OUT

OWNERS OF STOCK MUST REPAY LOANS OF $100,000

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Judge Hardy in the superior court yesterday entered a decree that the Federal trust company was entitled to hold as security for its loans to Robert E. Davis, the broker, the 1070 shares of stock in the American News company belonging to William H. Jackson and the 209 shares of preferred stock in the Connecticut River Power company belonging to Harriman & Chase.

Davis had obtained the stock from Jackson and from Harriman and had pledged it for loans made by the trust company to him. The certificates had been indorsed in blank. Jackson may redeem both stocks upon paying the Federal trust company within 31 days $89,530, the amount of its loans to Davis with interest, expenses and costs, and upon paying $9743 to Baker Ayling & Co. stock brokers, what Davis owed them, and $1050 to William Wheeler. Davis had assigned his interest in the stock subject to the claim of the trust company to Baker, Ayling & Co.

Jackson is to get the residue after satisfying these claims in the event of the securities being sold. The river power stock is first to be sold by the trust company and its proceeds applied to paying its claim. In the event that Jackson redeems the stocks, Harriman & Chase can get the river power stock only upon paying him $7500.

BARKING DOGS

ARE BARRED BY CITY FATHERS OF QUINCY

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—A few days ago the city fathers of Quincy ruled that a rooster crowing in the middle of the night was a nuisance, and as a result a certain high class gamecock who disturbed the night slumbers of quiet-loving people of Quincy was killed.

Now the city fathers have turned upon barking dogs. As a result the new ordinance went into effect yesterday. It says that no one can keep a noisy dog. If he does it will cost him $10 every time said canine fails to obey the rules made by the city council.

What same dog, under the law, has no right to bite. If he does, every bite will cost its owner $10. A mutter will now be the principal wearing apparel of a dog in Quincy that he may refrain from indulging in long soliloquies on moonlight nights, or any other night. The ordinance, which says it is wrong for a dog to bark, reads as follows: "No person shall keep a dog which by barking, biting or howling, disturbs the quiet of any other person. The penalty for a violation of this ordinance after being once warned by the chief of police, will be a fine of not more than $10."

No provisions are made for the disposal of the dog in case he is a constant violator of these rules.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 4.—Brown expected to give additional proof of its football strength today when it lined up against the Rhode Island College team. Having won its two games played with the University of Maine and Massachusetts Agricultural college, the Rhode Island team came up from Kingston with confidence in its ability to hold the Brunonians down to a small score following the overwhelming score of 56 to 0 which the "Hillmen" piled up against New Hampshire in the opening game here last Saturday.

WILEY IS IN CONTROL

Solicitor McCabe Has Resigned From the Food Board

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Solicitor McCabe yesterday asked Secretary Wilson to relieve him from further duty with the board of food and drug inspection and the request was granted.

Secretary Wilson announced that Dr. Dunlap, the member of the board whose vote, with McCabe's, placed Dr. Wiley in a permanent minority, would take a vacation until the return of President Taft to Washington from his western journey. Dr. Doellittle, now chief of the food and drug inspection chemical laboratory in New York city, was designated as a member of the board in place of Solicitor McCabe.

Dr. Doellittle comes from Michigan and received his scientific education at the Michigan Agricultural college at Lansing. He has been in charge of the New York laboratory for several years and has acquired himself in many difficult cases with distinct success and to the satisfaction of importers and merchants. Eighty to 90 per cent of the food and drug cases arising from imports originate in New York and have thus come directly under the work of Dr. Doellittle in the New York laboratory. He has the full confidence of Dr. Wiley and of his associates in the bureau of chemistry.

Dr. H. W. Wiley returned to his desk in the bureau of chemistry yesterday after 10 days' absence in attendance on the conservation congress at Kansas City and other gatherings. During his absence Secretary Wilson and Solicitor McCabe had returned to Washington and for several days the report has been current that the secretary would turn over to Dr. Wiley without let or hindrance full control of the bureau of chemistry.

The pure food and drug board is the agency which passes upon many important cases arising under the enforcement of the pure food law. Dr. Wiley, on the one hand, and Solicitor McCabe and Dr. Dunlap on the other, were the members of the board. Dr. Wiley declared that he was usually outvoted, and made a number of sensational statements in the investigation of the controversy.

The reasons for Solicitor McCabe's resignation were not announced. Secretary Wilson said Mr. McCabe's duties as solicitor remained unchanged, and under the general provision of the law he will continue to exercise an important influence over the enforcement of the pure food law.

"There will be no permanent change in the department's method of enforcing the pure food law until President Taft has had an opportunity to take up the matter in Washington," said Secretary Wilson. "The appointment of Dr. Doellittle will simply continue the board's operation as at present, up to the time when President Taft returns."

HOME VANISHED!

BOY RETURNED FROM SCHOOL TO FIND FAMILY GONE

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 4.—Walking, as he supposed, from the school which he attended to his home, only to find that the home had vanished, was the unusual experience that fell to the lot of 10-year-old Joseph Hoard here yesterday afternoon.

According to the lad's story, he had been living with a family by the name of Fitzgerald at the corner of North and Carey streets and had worked for his board.

He attended the Chestnut street school as usual yesterday afternoon, leaving the house shortly after one o'clock. The Fitzgerald home was in its condition, but when he arrived home from school he found the house stripped of furniture and fixtures and the family gone. Young Hoard drifted into the police station last evening and told his story. He was taken in charge by Donald North, secretary of the Boys' club.

This week is Quarter Week at the Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank.

STRUCK BY AN AUTO

Dorchester Boy Was Fatally Injured

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Francis McDermott, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William McDermott of 113 Granite avenue, Dorchester, was fatally injured late yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile owned by Henry C. Knight of Riverbank court, Cambridge, and driven by Frederick Dittman of 42 Hewitt street, Dorchester.

Young McDermott ran from behind Woodsman's express wagon directly in front of the automobile, which was running down Granite street at a moderate speed. The boy was launched to the ground, conscious of the brain resting in his head. He was lifted into the machine, in which were Mrs. Knight, her daughter Irene, and Mrs. Henry Rife, and was hurried to the office of Dr. Joseph Kelly, 114 Ashmont street, Dorchester, where he was removed to the City hospital. He died at 10:15 p. m.

SHAW STOCKING CO.

Meeting of the Stockholders Was Adjourned Until Friday

A well attended meeting of the stockholders of the Shaw Stocking company was held this morning at the office of the company in Shaw street. There were about 45 stockholders present and the meeting was called to order at 10:30 o'clock by President Frank J. Dutcher, who in a few words explained the purpose of the meeting which was called to take action on the recommendation of the directors of the Shaw company that the capital of the company be reduced from $500,000 to $180,000, and that afterwards the capital be increased to $450,000 on the issue of $270,000 new stock at par.

After considerable discussion on the question, the meeting was adjourned till Friday morning at 10 o'clock, at which time final action will be taken by the stockholders on this important question.

The stockholders were notified of this morning's meeting by a letter from the directors, who frankly admitted that under present conditions it is impossible to borrow the money necessary to proceed with the successful operation of the plant, and they express the belief that they have arrived at the right solution, as set forth to place the Shaw business on a satisfactory basis.

On the other hand there is an element in the organization opposed to the proposition submitted by the directors and this opposition is expressed in a letter written by Edgerly & Crocker, stock brokers of Boston, to the directors under date of October 2. The letter is as follows:

To the Board of Directors, Shaw Stocking Company, Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen: Referring to the proposed scaling of the stock of the Shaw Stocking company and the issue of new stock for cash, we think that the stockholders, upon examining carefully into the directors' circular of Sept. 23, 1911, would see what has been done.

We find that the assets of the company consist of:

Cash and accounts receivable $ 50,000
Merchandise 257,000

Plant at assessed value of $22,850
Total $228,850

On the other side there are:

Debts of $100,000
And capital stock of $100,000
Or a profit and loss deficit of just $100,000

Comparing this with the published report of May 30, 1909, when there was a profit and loss surplus of $11,000, it can be seen that there has been a loss of $200,000 in two years. For a company whose capital is only $500,000, this loss, it seems to us, would lead most stockholders to ask questions. There is also the fact that, we think, a little more light on the subject of how these losses were made than the statement of the directors that the "expense of manufacturing has been very great owing to the high cost of raw materials and the general depression existing in all textile industries and the volume of business has somewhat decreased partly owing to the difference in the method of merchandising our goods, etc."

Taking the figures given in the company's circular, the book value of the stock is about $50. The stockholder is asked to scale his stock to $25.33 a share. We think that the stockholder may well ask if this reduction is not too drastic. Would it not be just as practical to scale his stock to $25 or $30 a share and get the new money subscribed? It is possible that there are stockholders who will not be in a position to take up their new stock. If they are then unable to sell their right to subscribe, a portion of their property amounting to the difference between $50 and $25.33, or about $24.67 a share for each share they formerly owned, is then divided among the several most generous stockholders of the company whose confidence in this method of financing the company's states, leads them to agree to underwriting the total amount of the new issue of stock at par.

Yours truly,
(Signed) Edgerly & Crocker.

However, the question will be brought upon at Friday morning's meeting.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 4.—El Pais today published a sensational telegram from San Antonio, Texas, to the effect that the followers of General Reyes and the deposed president, Gen. ## RESTORES NATURAL COLOR TO GRAY HAIR

Not a Stain or Dye

That growing old and gray is undesirable to most of us is shown by the almost unobtainable quantity of hair dyes and stains that are sold each year in the United States. Aside from the danger that attends the use of these preparations, it is well known that even the best of them can not give permanent results and that they color the hair unevenly and in patches, making the user ridiculous to any close observer.

Printed below is the prescription or formula for a preparation that is not a stain or dye and contains no coloring matter, but which rapidly restores natural color to gray, streaked or faded hair in a manner which is truly remarkable, solely by its action in reviving and stimulating the color sacs in the hair roots, supplying them with the natural food and oil nourishment which they require.

The ingredients are all simple, standard and inexpensive pharmaceutical products which you can buy at any drug store. The druggist will mix them for you or you can do it at home. Allow to stand one-half hour before using. Here is the prescription:

Buy Run ..... 6 oz.
Lavender de Composee ..... 2 oz.
Menthol Crystals ..... 1/2 dr.

Apply night and morning, rubbing briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush. This prescription is perfectly harmless and is recommended not only for the purpose named, but as a truly wonderful hair grower.

Before publication this prescription was presented to Hitter-James Drug Co., this city, and they state that they have filled it many times for their patrons, who report most astonishing results from its use.

CHARTER DRAFTS

Sent Out to Voters by Committee

The office of Secretary Murphy of the board of trade was a busy place this morning, for Secretary Murphy and a corps of clerks were hidden behind huge piles of pamphlets which they were most assiduously placing in envelopes and stamping. The pamphlets were copies of the new city charter which are to be mailed to every voter on the Lowell check list. The first installment went out this morning and they will be sent into the mail boxes without delay until all are out. The names are being taken from the check lists but should anyone be omitted there are plenty of copies at the board of trade rooms which may be obtained by calling for them or by telephoning the address of the one desiring a copy.

The executive committee of the board of trade met this afternoon for the transaction of routine business.

FIRE IN A CHURCH

The Police Are Making an Investigation

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 4.—Basing their investigations upon the fact that a strong anti-Polish feeling exists in the neighborhood, Cambridge police inspectors and representatives from the state fire marshal's office today began a probe of a small fire which was discovered in the Polish Catholic church in Norton square, East Cambridge, in the early morning hours. The fire damage was very slight but it was discovered after the flames had been extinguished that the church had been broken into, that the fire appeared to have been of incendiary origin and that some of the vestments of the priests had been stolen.

"FRONTIER DAY"

Was Repeated to Please President Taft

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 4.—President Taft saw a bit of Old West today. Cheyenne did not merely wait him drive through the streets and listen to presidential eloquence but "Frontier day" with bucking broncos, wild horse races and the feats which abound in Wild West shows was repeated for the president's benefit.

The reception committee made the show as nearly as possible like one held a few weeks ago and 65 performers appeared before Mr. Taft.

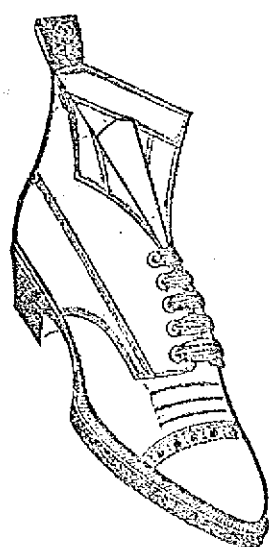

In addition to the show, the president's program included an automobile ride through the city, a review of troops and an address in an opera house. His train was scheduled to make two more stops in Wyoming today and should reach Salt Lake City tomorrow.

LORD ROBERT

PAID A VISIT TO THE SUN OFFICE YESTERDAY

Lord Robert, the diminutive comedian, who is appearing at Keith's theatre, does not devote his entire time to theatricals, for during his leisure moments he visits various places of interest in every city that he is playing in. The little fellow is an ingenious person and has an eye for mechanical apparatus. Lord Robert, accompanied by Will H. Stevens, the manager of Keith's theatre in this city, called at The Sun office yesterday afternoon and after making a tour of inspection of the building enjoyed an automobile ride with the automobile editor of The Sun.

Lord Robert was very favorably impressed with the mechanical department of The Sun and although he has visited many newspaper offices he stated that he found none that was so complete in equipment as that of The Sun.

GUILTY OF ASSAULT
Man Was Ordered to Pay a
Fine of $10

The greater portion of this morning's session of the police court was devoted to the hearing of Simon Rosenfeld, charged with assault and battery on Samuel Schwartz. William A. Hogan appeared for the government and the defense was represented by Bennett Silverblatt, and at the conclusion of the case the defendant was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $10.
Schwartz testified that he is employed by Nathan Greenbaum and that the latter keeps his horse, or rather did keep it, in the stable owned by the defendant, which is located in Railroad street. He claimed that on the 29th of September he was feeding the horse when the defendant assaulted him.
While he admitted that the usual custom was to feed the horse on the ground floor, the witness stated that the horse in question is a "green" animal and he was afraid to enter the stable, so he poured the oats down through a chute from the floor above.
He said that while he was preparing to feed the animal Rosenfeld accused him of stealing oats and after threatening him struck him on the neck and then grabbed him by the neck and threatened to call the police.
Nathan Greenbaum was the next witness called. He stated that he is a fruit dealer and testified that inasmuch as he was short of oats on the day in question he ordered a small quantity and presented a receipt from a local grain dealer showing that the purchase had been made.
Greenbaum proved to be a rather talkative witness and every now and then wanted to explain what transpired, but his counsel prevented him from doing so. Witness said: "Let me talk, let me talk," but Mr. Silverblatt objected and the court informed the witness that he should answer the questions which he was asked. Greenbaum informed the court that he had heard Rosenfeld kick him by the neck and also that he had "heard an argument of feet." Witness said that he had heard that Rosenfeld had claimed that some person had been stealing oats from him.
The government rested its case at this point. The first witness for the defense was the defendant, Rosenfeld, who testified that he had a stable in the rear of 32 Railroad street and let six stalls for horses. He complained that he had lost oats and said he saw the complainant taking oats from a receptacle. He said that he saw Schwartz enter the room in question, remove a half-peck measure of oats and subsequently saw the complainant lock the door. He testified that upon finding the man he grabbed him and said he was going to telephone for the police but later decided not to do so.
The court after considering the evidence in the case found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $10.
Charged With Threatening
Thomas O'Leary was charged with drunkenness and threatening Henry J.
Crossland. But after the court heard the case a fine of $2 was imposed for drunkenness and the defendant was ordered to furnish bonds in the sum of $100 to keep the peace for six months.
Alleged Larceny of a Dog
John Tighe was brought before Judge Hadley this morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of a dog valued at $5, the property of Joseph Drainville. The case was a rather peculiar one and when the hearing was concluded it was found that there was a mistake all around. According to the testimony Drainville sold the canine to Adelard Dugast and the latter allowed the animal to run around until it was missing. Recently he learned that the dog was in the possession of the defendant and the matter was reported to the police. Inasmuch as there were two claimants for the dog the matter was brought into court, but Mr. Tighe explained that he had taken it as a stray dog and the court being convinced that the defendant was telling the truth found him not guilty and dismissed the complaint. The dog was turned over to its owner.
Case Continued
The case of Antonios Tsimides, charged with having received stolen property, was brought before Judge Hadley in police court this morning, but by agreement was continued until Saturday.
It is alleged that Nicholas J. Zacharis and another man, who has not yet been approached, stole a pocketbook containing about $50 in money, a share in a Greek bank and an unset stole, from George Eliopoulos on Aug.
21 in a Greek coffee house in Market street.
After the matter was reported to the police Zacharias was arrested and when arraigned before the local police court entered a plea of not guilty, but probable cause was found and he was held for the superior court and after being found guilty was sentenced to 18 months in the house of correction.
Drunken Offenders
Hugh E. Molloy was charged with being drunk and after being found guilty was ordered to pay a fine of $5.
There were two first offenders, who were fined $2 each, and several simple drunks were released.

MRS. FORT HILL—It was only yesterday that he and my husband were discussing their rifles and hunting dogs. I wash and sprinkle the dog kennel with Coburn's Liquid Disinfectant.
It keeps it clean and kills odors.

MRS. ROGER STREET—C. B. Coburn

a gallon of their Liquid Disinfectant this morning. It was five a gallon.
I wash our dog with a solution of it.
It destroys lice, fleas and other parasites, and at the same time beautifies the coat.

MRS. FORT HILL—Coburn's Liquid
Disinfectant is a germ killer, a cleaner and a purifier. I must get one of their descriptive circulars. They are free and Mrs. Keynote says the circular gives many uses for disinfectant that lighten household cares.
